

U.S. SUPREME COURT DECIDES EX-RED CAN'T BE DEPORTED

Supreme Tribunal, Through Justice Roberts, Quashes
Labor Department Order Against Joseph G. Strecker of Hot Springs, Ark.

NO IMMEDIATE WORD
ON HARRY BRIDGES

Decision Says 'It Is Present Membership or Affiliation' With Communist Party Which Requires Expulsion From U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—
The Supreme Court ruled today that past membership in the Communist party of the United States does not subject an alien to deportation.

Justice Roberts delivered the decision that ordered released from custody Joseph G. Streckler of Hot Springs, Ark., a former Communist, whom the Labor Department had sought to deport.

The decision had been awaited as a guide for Secretary of Labor Perkins in determining whether to prosecute deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, Australian-born CIO leader on the West Coast, who was described as a Communist by witnesses before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities.

The Labor Department would make no immediate statement on the effect of the ruling on the Bridges case.

Justices McReynolds and Butler dissented, contending that Streckler should be deported.

Justice Roberts' decision.
"When the Congress came to pass the act," Justice Roberts said, "it is clear that the act was intended to embrace an alien who, after entry, has become a member of an organization, membership in which, at the time of his entry, would have warranted his exclusion, although he has ceased to be a member at the time of his arrest."

"We hold that the act does not provide for the deportation of such an alien."

"If Congress meant," Justice Roberts continued, "that past membership, of no matter how short duration or how far in the past, was to be a cause of present deportation, the purpose could have been clearly stated. The section (of the legislation) does not bear this import."

"By the first section of the act, as amended in 1920, aliens are to be excluded who are members of a described organization. The section does not require the exclusion of those who have been in the past, but are no longer, members."

"When the Congress came to provide for deportation, instead of again enumerating and defining the various classes of aliens who might be deported, it provided that if at any time it should be found that an alien had been admitted and, at the time of admission, was a member of any of the prohibited classes, or had thereafter become such, he should be deported."

"It is not to be supposed that past membership, which does not bar admission, was intended to be a cause of deportation."

"And the fact that naturalization is denied to an alien only on the ground that he is a member of or affiliated with an organization entertaining disbelief in or opposition to organized government, and not for past membership or affiliation, adds added force to their view."

Dissenting, Chief Justice
McReynolds said that the "construction of the statute adopted by the court seems both unwarranted and

He continued:
"It is the simple process of resigning or getting expelled from a proscribed organization, an alien may thereby instantly purge himself of membership, and thus avoid the consequences of such conduct which would otherwise be visited upon him."

Justice McReynolds said he believed the court should "dispose of the case upon the merits notwithstanding any omissions or defects found in the petition for certiorari."
"If this alien is guilty of the charge against him," he said, "he should be liberated without more said; if guilty, the public should be relieved of his presence now. That he is an undesirable is made manifest."

Streckler came to this country in 1912 and was a member of the Communist party for three months in 1923-4.

Justice Roberts' opinion dealt with a ruling by the Fifth Circuit court in New York City.

JOSEPH G. STRECKER.CROP MARKETING QUOTA LAW HELD CONSTITUTIONALSupreme Court Denies Tobacco Growers Injunction Against Penalty Tax for Violation.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—
Provisions of the 1938 Agricultural Adjustment Act limiting the amount of major farm products to be placed on the market were held constitutional today by the Supreme Court.

Justice Roberts delivered the decision that sustained the provisions against an attack by a group of Georgia and Florida flue-cured tobacco growers. Justice Butler and McReynolds dissented.

The tobacco growers sought to enjoin warehouse men at Valdosta, Ga., from retaining and paying to the Federal Government 50 per cent of the sale price of tobacco marketed by the growers in excess of their quota. This tax was imposed by the act as a penalty against violation.

Lower Court Ruling.
A three-judge Federal Court in Georgia ruled that the penalties were incurred by "willful sales" in excess of the quotas and must be paid by the growers.

Designed to keep crop surpluses from market channels, marketing quotas fixed by the Secretary of Agriculture must be approved by two-thirds of growers of a crop casting ballots in a referendum.
They were invoked for the first time last year on cotton and tobacco crops. Cotton growers voted more than 90 per cent in favor of the restrictive provisions of the law.

Quotas were proposed by the AAA on this year's cotton, tobacco and rice crops. However, only producers of cotton approved them.
Supplies of wheat and corn, while in excess of the quotas, were not subjected to the law.

37 KILLED IN TORNADOES, ARKANSAS HARDEST HIT

200 Injured, Heavy Damage Done in Lower Part of State — 11 Perish at Funeral When Church Is Destroyed.

FATALITIES IN TEXAS, LOUISIANA, ALABAMA

Downpour Accompanying Wind Floods Rivers, Disrupting Electric and Water Services — Roads Washed Out.

COLLINS, Ark., April 17 (AP).—Sporadic tornadoes, striking in 13 rural communities, left 23 dead, two missing and at least 200 injured in South Arkansas yesterday.

Fourteen others lost their lives in tornadoes in Louisiana, Texas and Alabama.

Torrential rains, ranging up to a record of 10.4 inches in the Arkansas River valley, drenched the entire State of Arkansas and resulted in flood warnings today for six rivers.

Property damage estimated at more than $250,000 was reported from the Oklahoma border to the Mississippi River.

The storm dealt its worst blow in the small community of Center Point, a mile west of Collins, where 17 persons were killed and 60 injured. Eleven died when the twister hit a church in which a funeral service had just been concluded.

The Rev. Thomas West, 52 years old, was killed. The victims included three persons were killed near Tillar, one near Texarkana, one near Dumas and one at Calmer. Two Negro children, missing after being blown from the school Bayou Bartholomew, near Ladd, were believed to have drowned.

25 Houses Destroyed.

More than 25 homes in the Center Point community were destroyed, and the storm dipped damagingly into living quarters of two nearby plantations. The W. C. Roper plantation reported nine deaths, the adjacent Prewitt farm three.

Through the night, rescue squads, on foot and with flashlights, struggled through mud to bring out dead and injured. Roads through the area, crisscrossed with fallen trees, were impassable for trucks, motor traffic and horsemen. A whole CCC camp was drafted for rescue work.

A general store at Collins was converted into a mortuary. The injured were taken to hospital facilities at nearby Monticello, Crossant and the CCC camp. At Monticello alone, more than 40 persons applied for treatment.

W. C. Bledsoe, 38, one of 49 persons injured near Texarkana, Tex., across the State from Collins, died early today from pneumonia, aggravated by exposure and shock. Seriously ill when the storm struck, he was forced to lie in the rain for some time after his home was damaged.

At Tillar, near Collins, Mrs. J. A. Gable, wife of a plantation superintendent, was killed when the wind demolished her home.

Jimmy Cash, 38, one of six persons injured when a farm home near Calmer was destroyed, died in a Pine Bluff hospital today.

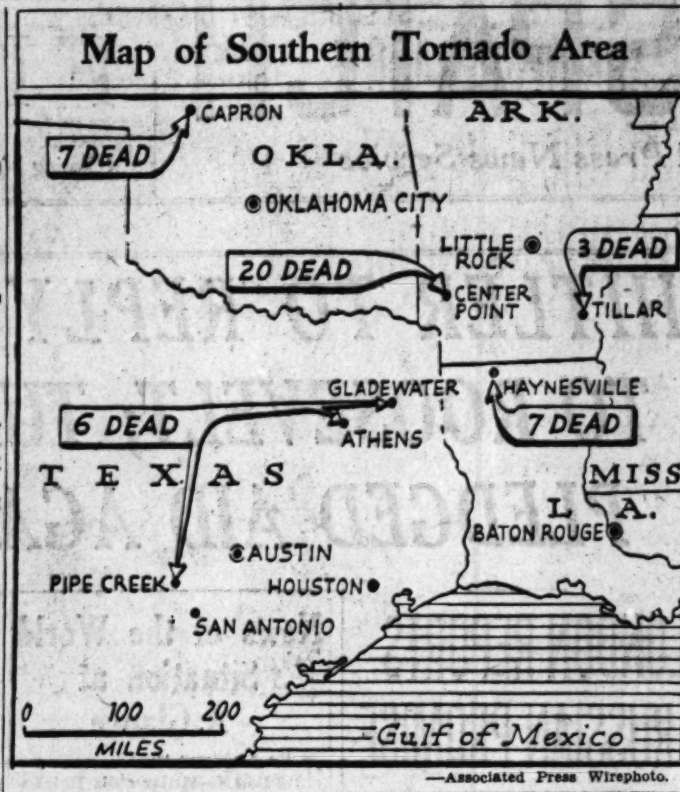

Other identified dead at Center Point were:

Virgil Phillips, 34, his wife, 34, and their 7-year-old son, Billie; Cleo Phillips, 15; Audie Lee Phillips, 17; Darrel Ray, 17; Pete Martin, 23; William Brown, 23; Elbert Hart, 30; Lyndana Ray, 12; Beascham Jones, 66, and Charles Drevitt, 54.

Other areas damaged by the twister between early Sunday and late afternoon included: Rison, 10 homes destroyed, three hurt; El Dorado, major damage to Rainbow City oil field derricks, three hurt; Marked Tree, numerous structures damaged, two hurt; Dumas, 12 injured; Bradley, two seriously hurt; Warren, 15 houses in two Bradley County communities damaged; Ozan, seven farm homes destroyed, one hurt; Earle, high school auditorium unroofed; Lewisville, one house leveled, others damaged.

The accompanying rainfall, general over the State, ranged up to eight inches at Danville, where the Pettit Jean River left its banks. A 100-foot section of a nearly completed $200,000 waterworks dam at Paris was washed out by waters of a mountain creek. The Municipal Water Works pump station was destroyed.

Paris officials, acting to conserve the reservoir water supply in the event of fires, provided only emergency water service last night and for a time the town was in darkness when lack of water caused shutdown of the municipal light plant. ## AIRLINER BASE TO BE CREATED ON CORAL ATOLL

Island Lacks Vegetation and Water Supply and Is Only Nine Feet Above Ocean

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP).—Within two weeks Pan American Airways will dispatch an expedition to Canton Island, a coral atoll in mid-Pacific, to establish a base for airline service between San Francisco and New Zealand.

Already extensively surveyed, the 6000-mile route from Hawaii will be flown by one or more of the new 41-ton flying boats being built by the Boeing Aircraft Co. of Seattle.

The New Zealand service will constitute the airline's second "leg" over the Pacific. It has flown the 8700-mile route to China on schedule since April, 1937, and from America to the Philippines since Nov. 22, 1935, utilizing island bases as stepping stones en route.

Limited harbor space at Pago Pago, American Samoa, led the airline to abandon its temporary base there in favor of Canton Island, which has a sheltered lagoon nine miles long and five miles wide.

A channel must be blasted, however, through an under-water forest of coral heads for the safe berthing of flying boats.

The magnitude of the job ahead on the atoll, 1850 miles southwest of Honolulu, is indicated by its lack of vegetation and water supplies. Only nine feet above the ocean, Canton is for the most part porous sand and a few pools of brackish water.

LINDBERGH ASKS WHAT INQUIRY ON NEUTRALITY WILL COVER

Seeks More Information on House Hearing Before Saying Whether He Will Testify

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—Col. Charles Lindbergh asked the House Foreign Affairs Committee today for more information about its hearings on neutrality legislation before definitely saying whether he will testify.

Acting Chairman Bloom (Dem.), New York, said he still expected the noted aviator to appear before the committee, however. Lindbergh's request for additional information was understood to have been made in a letter to Bloom.

FRENCH WARSHIPS POSTED ON GUARD ABOUT GIBRALTAR

Several weeks had been laid aside and 25,000 gas masks allotted between the civilian and military populations.

Guns High On Rock.

Anti-aircraft guns and heavy guns, placed high on the rock, were considered sufficient to meet any threat but could be supported by fire from ships in the harbor and smaller anti-aircraft pieces in scattered strategic positions.

It was announced in London that the first battalion of Welsh Guards would be sent to Gibraltar "on or after April 22" to bolster the Gibraltar garrison force now numbering about 3500.

Detachments of the Royal Air Force are hurrying to completion a landing field on Gibraltar's only flat stretch of land, an area near the neutral zone.

ITALY'S MILITARY FUNDS INCREASED BY $25,000,000

Extra Amount to Be Spent Annually for 10 Years—Papers Call Roosevelt's Plea 'Act of War.'

ROME, April 17 (AP).—Italy announced today the appropriation of increased military funds of about $25,000,000 annually for the next 10 years. The official gazette said the money would be used to increase the efficiency of the army.

The Fascist press violently attacked President Roosevelt's appeal for a pledge of peace, apparently foreshadowing rejection by Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Hitler of Germany.

The Italian reply to the Roosevelt note is understood to have been already drafted.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Hitler's right hand man, left for Berlin after conferring with Mussolini on axis strategy. Although no communiqué was issued, Goering's discussions with Mussolini assumed they examined the attitude the Berlin and Rome Governments would take toward the American President's message.

"Offensive and Reticent." Mussolini's own newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia, of Milan, termed Roosevelt's message "an offensive and reticent document."

"The Italian and Fascist conscience," Il Popolo said, "in reacting with all its force to Roosevelt's message is certain that it is not rejecting a noble and serious effort in behalf of peace, but rather is opposing a maneuver designed to obstruct the work of men who truly want peace and are building it stone by stone on the lasting foundation of justice among peoples."

The authoritative editor Virginio Gayda declared in Il Giornale d'Italia:

"Everyone understands that the message and the claims with which it was sent to Mussolini and Hitler form a new chapter in the offensive policy which today is being carried out among Great Britain, France and the United States for encirclement of Italy and Germany."

Mussolini conferred with his son-in-law and Foreign Minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano and Goering last night.

It was understood that Hitler's views were injected directly into the conference by telephone talk between Rome and Munich which he conferred with his Foreign Minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop.

In an official communiqué it was announced simply that Goering had a long talk with Mussolini in the presence of Ciano.

The newspaper Il Messaggero characterized the President's appeal as "an act of war" which it said "fits into the general offensive promoted by the plutocratic democracies against the totalitarian nation."

"The reply of the Rome Government will be what it should be and in full agreement with Berlin," Il Messaggero said. "It would be a misfortune to allow ourselves to be led astray by such insidious methods."

"If the aims of Roosevelt had been truly what he says they were he would not have presented his proposals in a public document which the addresses earned of through news agencies before they did through normal diplomatic channels."

The newspaper accused the President of insolence in addressing his message to Hitler and Mussolini, adding that "the insolence is aggravated by the absolutely arbitrary and libelous judgment he expressed on what happened in Ethiopia, Austria, Czech-Slovakia and Albania."

"Terrific Ignorance." Il Popolo di Roma said the President's message was a "demonstration of a desire for publicity, of terrific ignorance, of grotesque presumption and of ridiculous excess."

Accusing the President of acting from motives of domestic politics, Il Popolo di Roma said he desired "to attach the seat of his pants firmly to the presidential chair."

It was not known when the Italian answer would be delivered but its substance was believed to have been worked out last night at Mussolini's office in Palazzo Venezia.

In Fascist quarters the President's messages, asking Mussolini and Hitler to promise not to attack 31 nations in return for Mr. Roosevelt's efforts toward a disarmament and economic conference, were described as uncalled for.

In the case of Italy it was argued there was no threat against another nation. In this, Italian reaction followed the German lead.

Hitler to Reply April 28 To Roosevelt Peace Plea

quently by telephone with his axis partner, Mussolini.

Hitler's Paper's Comment.

Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, termed the communication a "theatrical trick" and recorded the reaction in Rome under a front-page headline, "Rome Also Unmasks Roosevelt."

The paper said also that Roosevelt was continuing the "old game" of the politicians in London and Paris who seek to encircle Germany and added:

"If one dispels the fog clouds which have been placed around this experiment with a thousand phrases, the contours become clearly discernible of a war alliance against the axis Powers which will supply London and Paris with the necessary cannon fodder."

The Voelkischer Beobachter branded the message as one aimed at "thoughtfully introducing a new war-guilt lie into the conscience of the people."

Hitler's Move a Surprise.

Hitler's decision to summon the Reichstag appeared to have taken the bureaucracy of Wilhelmstrasse by surprise. It had been considered one of the question that he would make any move while the birthday celebration preparations occupied the German officials.

One question immediately occurred to political observers: Is the Free City of Danzig to figure as a "birthday gift" to the Chancellor?

Some professed to envisage a strong possibility that Hitler would do nothing to antagonize world opinion.

Rumors circulated that Germany may take that onetime German city—with a Nazi-dominated Parliament now—with strict attention to Polish rights there. Warsaw is said here to have admitted those rights are of an economic nature only. Danzig has had a customs connection with Poland since the post-war settlements.

Berlin Thinks Poles Will Yield.

In the absence of official comment, the expectation seemed general in Berlin that Poland would raise no objections if it really came to an incorporation of Danzig into the Reich.

Great Britain has pledged aid to Poland if its independence is threatened. Danzig was not among the 31 countries President Roosevelt mentioned in his message.

Polish reports said Warsaw continued to contend that the status of Danzig could not be changed by individual action but must be done by the consent of both Poland and Germany.

Both at the Foreign Office and Polish Embassy, it was said that there was no occasion for Ribbentrop and Polish Ambassador Joseph Lipski to confer. Thus, should seizure of Danzig figure in Nazi birthday plans, official Poland may know nothing about it.

Ribbentrop is to meet Rumanian Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu tomorrow for a conference to be devoted to attempts to clarify German-Rumanian relations. This, a spokesman said, naturally would involve the question of British-French offers to help Rumania in case of attack. It might also be assumed to cover the question of whether Rumania could be relied on as a source of supplies, especially wheat, oil and minerals, in case Germany should become involved in a war.

Gafencu will remain as one of the distinguished foreign guests for Hitler's birthday celebration, but in a private capacity.

Hitler Moved to Action.

Hitler interrupted a vacation at his Bavarian mountain retreat and rushed to Munich Saturday morning over Roosevelt's message with Von Ribbentrop.

He took a special train southward last night as Berlin was putting up its gayest decorations for his birthday anniversary.

Hitler inspected a cavalry regiment today at St. Pölten, a garrison town near Vienna, where he arrived early in the morning and was received by high army officers. His tour had the apparent aim of investigating the progress of training the newest recruits.

TOKYO LAUDS AXIS IN COMMENT ON ROOSEVELT PLEA

War Minister Pays Homage to Germany and Italy for Efforts to Project New Order in Europe.

TOKYO, April 17 (AP).—The War Minister, Lieutenant-General Selshiro Itagaki, commenting today on President Roosevelt's appeal for peace, expressed "heartfelt homage both to Germany and Italy for their spirited endeavors in the cause of a projected new order in Europe."

In an interview with Domei, Japanese news agency, Gen. Itagaki asserted that Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's offensive had failed and that the Chinese continued fighting only with the assistance of third Powers.

He attributed the "complicated and precarious situation in Europe" to the "co-existence of small Powers and resulting lack of balance among nations."

The newspaper Kokumin quoth official Japanese sources as saying President Roosevelt's peace appeal to Germany and Italy was a "mere diplomatic circular telegram which will not cause any substantial change in the world situation."

The newspaper said the message did not imply any definite action on the part of the United States and would in effect strengthen the Italian-German position.

Regarding Mr. Roosevelt's reference to Japan's occupation of China, Kokumin expressed regret at the failure of the United States to understand the "true situation."

It added that Japan saw no need to change its fixed national policy as a result of the President's action.

Other newspapers and the Foreign Office declined to comment. Newspapers said the sudden return of the United States fleet to the Pacific from the Atlantic "may be a demonstration against the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis or may indicate America intends to keep an eye on Japan in case of European war."

Belgian Bank Rate Raised.

BRUSSELS, April 17 (AP).—The National Bank of Belgium raised its discount rate from 2½ to 4 percent today. The action was taken to protect Belgium's gold reserve, which had been depleted by the flight of capital abroad.

INQUIRY INTO FIRE ESCAPES AT LUCAS-HUNT VILLAGE

County Prosecutor Tells Sheriff Findings in Plans, Though Required by Law.

Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Wallach of St. Louis County, letter today to Sheriff A. J. Franks suggested he investigate the fire escapes in the Lucas-Hunt Village now under construction and demand that the State law requiring fire escapes for three-story dwellings be observed.

Wallach said to a Post-Dispatch reporter he had examined plans for the apartment district and found no provision for fire escapes. He said he would file a complaint with the State law enforcement agency.

The statute provides that in incorporated areas, the State must approve fire escapes. Buildings three stories or more high, Wallach also is seeking force for construction of fire escapes at Maphasset Village.

Hamilton-Brown To Seek Its Third Reorganization

Papers Being Drafted for Bankruptcy Proceeding Under Which Action Will Be Requested.

NOTICE IS GIVEN BY HEAD OF FIRM

Company Has Had Major Labor Difficulties Recently at Union and Poplar Bluff Plants.

The Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. which has been through two receivership reorganizations in the last nine years, will seek another reorganization through a Federal court bankruptcy proceeding, was announced today by W. L. Collins, president of the company.

The St. Louis Stock Exchange today received a notification mail Saturday by Collins, stating that the company's board of directors had passed a resolution authorizing him to effect, through the United States District Court, a reorganization of the company.

Preparation of papers in the bankruptcy proceeding was progress today at the office of the firm's counsel, Leahy, Waltham, Hecker & Ely.

Acquired Control July 18.

Collins and a group of associates acquired control of the Hamilton-Brown company July 18 last, terminating the receivership which Circuit Judge William S. Connor decreed 10 weeks before after a long court contest. James A. McKewen, a boiler manufacturer, was receiver.

Previous receivership, with William R. Gentry, lawyer, as receiver, had been terminated by reorganization in which Luke Hart, lawyer, became head of the company. Hart was replaced by Presley W. Edwards, broker, who was head of the company when it was reorganized.

Major labor difficulties have involved the company recently at its factories in Union and Poplar Bluff, Mo. The National Labor Relations Board last November, issued an order that the company reinstate 187 employees at Union with back pay from the time of discharge, and that it bargain with the United Shoe Workers of America and sever connection with local organization, held to be company union. The total back pay involved was estimated by union officials at about $100,000.

One Case Appealed.

Hamilton-Brown has appealed the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the Union case. In February, the NLRB began an inquiry into the difficulties at the Poplar Bluff factory. Last week, stipulation was submitted by the board's trial examiner, for action by the company, the unions and the board. The stipulation provided that the charge of unfair practice against the shoe company should be dismissed, and that 60 days would be allowed for determining the union which should serve as bargaining agency.

A dispatch from Poplar Bluff today said that the proposed stipulation was rejected by John J. Mara, international president of the Boot and Shoe Workers Union, F. of L. affiliate. Accordingly, it was announced that hearings would be resumed at Poplar Bluff Wednesday.

Collins, president of the company, is president also of the Collins-Morris Shoe Co. After the purchase of Hamilton-Brown by the Collins syndicate, the Hamilton-Brown offices were moved from the building at Twelfth boulevard and Washington avenue to a factory at Twenty-first and Olive streets. The Collins-Morris firm also moved its office to the building at Twenty-first and Olive. It was announced today that Collins-Morris had moved its headquarters to 1233 Washington avenue.

Collins-Morris company, maintained a separate corporate status though having the same president and the same vice-president, Edward Morris.

TOKYO LAUDS AXIS IN COMMENT ON ROOSEVELT PLEA

War Minister Pays Homage to Germany and Italy for Efforts to Project New Order in Europe.

TOKYO, April 17 (AP).—The War Minister, Lieutenant-General Seishiro Itagaki, commenting today on President Roosevelt's appeal for peace, expressed "heartfelt homage both to Germany and Italy for their spirited endeavors in the cause of a projected new order in Europe."

In an interview with Domei, Japanese news agency, Gen. Itagaki asserted that Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's offensive had failed and that the Chinese continued fighting only with the assistance of third Powers.

He attributed the "complicated and precarious situation in Europe" to the "co-existence of small Powers and resulting lack of balance among nations."

The newspaper Kokumin quoted official Japanese sources as saying President Roosevelt's peace appeal to Germany and Italy was "a mere diplomatic circular telegram which will not cause any substantial change in the world situation."

The newspaper said the message did not imply any definite action on the part of the United States and would in effect strengthen the Italian-German position.

Regarding Mr. Roosevelt's reference to Japan's occupation of China, Kokumin expressed regret at the failure of the United States to understand the "true situation."

It added that Japan saw no need to change its fixed national policy as a result of the President's action.

Other newspapers and the Foreign Office declined to comment.

Newspapers said the sudden return of the United States fleet to the Pacific from the Atlantic "may be a demonstration against the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis or may indicate America intends to keep an eye on Japan in case of European war."

TAXABLE CORPORATION INCOME RISES IN CITY

$37,289,000 Figure for 1938 on State Income Returns —8.7 Pct Increase.

Corporations in St. Louis making State income tax returns on an annual basis reported a total taxable income for 1938 of $37,289,107, an increase of 8.7 per cent over the $34,298,905 figure reported for 1937, it was shown today in tax bills certified to City Collector William F. Baumann by the Assessor's office.

The number of corporations reporting was 2514, or 14 per cent more than last year, when the number was 2200. They will pay a tax of $783,993, as against $670,571 last year.

Although the income reported was substantially over that in 1937, it still was 15 per cent less than the $44,139,488 income reported by the same group of corporations for 1936.

Not all corporations doing business in St. Louis are included in the group, since some firms make their reports at other times corresponding with their fiscal years. It is estimated that there are 11,000 corporations here, not all of which had taxable incomes last year.

JOHN T. HALPIN, TURKEY AT POLICE STATION, DIES

Heart Allment Fatal to Man Who Served on Force for 32 Years.

John T. Halpin, a member of the St. Louis Police Department for 32 years, died of a heart ailment yesterday at his home, 4017A Lexington avenue. He was 64 years old.

Mr. Halpin, a turkey attached to the West Florissant Avenue Station, was one of 12 plaintiffs in an unsuccessful suit to break the will of his cousin, Thomas Halpin, drugist, who died in 1929, leaving an estate of $1,187,439.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Margaret Halpin; a brother and sister. The bulk of Thomas Halpin's fortune went to an adopted son and daughter.

The funeral will be at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Matthew's Church, Sarah and Kennerly avenues, with burial in Calvary Cemetery.

ART MUSEUM BUYS BRONZE FIGURE OF HINDU GOD SIVA

Work of Thirteenth or Fourteenth Century Indian Sculptor, Bulletin Says.

Acquisition by the City Art Museum of a bronze statue of the Hindu god Siva was announced today in the museum's bulletin.

The statue, 34 inches high, represents the third member of the Hindu trinity, of which the other two are Brahma and Vishnu. It shows the god in dancing pose, with his right foot resting on the back of a crouching dwarf. A massive circular halo surrounds the entire figure. The work is that of an Indian sculptor of probably the thirteenth or fourteenth century, the bulletin says.

The statue was bought from C. T. Loo, Oriental art dealer in New York City, with income from the Oriental art fund donated by the late W. K. Bixby. The museum declined to make public the purchase price.

BRITISH ART SHOW BARS PAINTING OF DEVIL AND HITLER

Deems Satan Holding Heads of Dictators in Scales of Justice "Too Political."

LONDON, April 17 (AP).—The Royal Society of British Artists today withdrew from its exhibition as "too political" an allegorical painting representing the Devil holding the heads of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini in the scales of justice.

Among the onlookers depicted in the painting are Prime Minister Chamberlain, President Roosevelt, David Lloyd George, Hailu Selassie and a number of refugees.

Otway McCannell, who painted the scene, entitled "Modern Allegory," explained it was a satire intended to emphasize the gravity of the international situation.

An officer of the society, however, said it had been decided that "perhaps it was best not to show it now."

LINKING CHEMICALS WITH WAR DEPLORED BY MONSANTO HEAD

Edgar M. Quency Tells Stockholders There Is an Unfortunate Idea in the Public Mind.

There is an "unfortunate association in the public mind of chemicals and war," despite repeated efforts by the chemical industry to refute it, Edgar M. Quency, president of the Monsanto Chemical Co., said today in his quarterly message to stockholders. The impression probably resulted from the rapid growth of the American chemical industry and the "temporarily large profits" of chemical companies as a result of the World War, he said.

Monsanto's products include only a very small percentage of those that go directly into munitions, he declared. "Phenol, which is the base for picric acid, a high explosive; nitric acid and other products which have also great utilitarian value in peace, and certain plastics used in military, as well as commercial aircraft, are virtually only 'war materials,'" he said.

The chemical shortage which confronted American industry at the outbreak of the World War in 1914 will not be repeated, he added.

OWEN D. TILLEY, FORMER AID OF PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD, DIES

Had Held Other Public Positions; Ill Health Forced Retirement Two Years Ago.

Owen D. Tilley, former secretary of the Board of Public Service, died today in Marine Hospital, where he had been ill since April 1 of a kidney ailment. He was 59 years old.

Mr. Tilley, at one time a Republican member of the Legislature and later secretary to the Department of Public Utilities, became secretary to the Board of Public Service in 1921. Ill health forced his retirement about two years ago.

Surviving are a nephew, E. T. Stanard, president of the Stanard-Tilton Milling Co., and two nieces, Miss Mary McCormick of St. Louis and Mrs. Joseph Brown of Dallas, Tex. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Wagoner Undertaking Co., 3621 Olive street, with burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

FUGITIVE CAUGHT IN CHASE

East Side Prisoner Says He Is Wanted in Indiana.

A man who said he was Norris Cannon, wanted in Vincennes, Ind., on a bad check charge, was captured in Maplewood Park, south of East St. Louis, early yesterday after a chase by Constable Frank L. Bauer of Centerville Township, who said he surprised Cannon in the act of stealing accessories from an automobile.

Bauer fired a shot at Cannon in the chase on foot through several muddy sloughs. Police quoted Cannon as saying he had broken jail three weeks ago at Hazelhurst, Miss., where he was being held for Vincennes police.

TRUCKMEN REPORT GIVING TO FUND TO AVOID STATE FEES

Inquiry Ordered in Illinois Into Alleged Effort to Get $6000 to Influence Missouri Officials.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 27.—The Illinois Commission on Uniform Motor Vehicle Laws will investigate reports that Southern Illinois motor truck operators were solicited to raise a $6000 fund to influence Missouri authorities to withhold enforcement of state laws, State Senator Louis J. Menges of East St. Louis announced today.

Menges said a group of truck owners who contributed to the $6000 fund had requested the investigation. He declined to disclose the names of the truck operators pending their appearance before the commission here Wednesday afternoon.

These small truckers said they had contributed from $5 to $100 to a fund, which they were told would be used to influence certain Missouri public officials to withhold enforcement of State laws requiring the payment of permit fees by Illinois truck men operating through Missouri. Menges told reporters.

Senator Menges also refused to name St. Louis and Missouri officials mentioned in connection with the solicitation because, he said, he is convinced the charge against the officials is untrue and the truck operators were victims of extortion. Menges said witnesses would be examined under oath and the evidence would be turned over to the proper prosecuting officers.

Illinois and Missouri have a reciprocity agreement by which each state charges fees ranging from $25 to $500 for trucking certain merchandise into the other state.

BOY, 6, SAVES BROTHER IN FIRE

NORTH RUSSELL, N. Y., April 17 (AP).—When Mr. and Mrs. Halstead Reed returned home they found their house in flames. Outside, 6-year-old Weldon Reed calmly applied ointment to burns suffered by himself and his 4-year-old brother, Warren.

Weldon said he was awakened by crackling flames. He rushed through them to his brother's room and led him back through the fire to safety. The house was destroyed.

The Meramec River, already out of its banks in parts of St. Louis County because of two days of steady rainfall general throughout the Eastern part of Missouri, was expected to continue to rise slowly today and to reach a crest of 25 feet at Valley Park by Wednesday.

This morning the stage at Valley Park was 19 feet, a rise of eight feet in 24 hours. This was five feet above flood stage. Larkin-Williams road from Fenton to Highway 66 across from Sylvan Beach, was under a foot and a half of water at some points and was closed to traffic. The water was near Marshall road at Kieffer's Beach and it was expected that this highway would be closed by tonight.

The Missouri River was approximately at flood stage at Hermann and St. Charles and was expected to continue to rise slowly for several days. The river will be slightly above flood stage from Boonville to its mouth until the rise ends.

At Alton and Grafton, Ill., the Mississippi River also was near flood stage, and still rising. The stage in St. Louis this morning was 23.7 feet, a rise of 4 feet in 48 hours. It is expected that the river will reach a crest of 29 feet, a foot below flood stage here, by Thursday.

Streams in Southeastern Missouri also were swollen by the heavy rainfall, but no serious floods were expected. The Black River was expected to go over flood stage by tonight, but only by a small amount.

The rainfall, general over the Mississippi Valley, measured 3.52 inches in St. Louis in the 48 hours ending this morning. Most weather stations in Missouri reported precipitation of 2 to 4 inches for the period.

Walter J. Moxom, meteorologist at the St. Louis bureau, said the prolonged rain was the result of two separate storm centers. One of them passed over Missouri from the West Saturday and soon was replaced by the second, moving northward from Texas.

PAUL MUNI SPEAKS IN CITY FOR JEWISH FUND CAMPAIGN

Urges United Action in America to Aid Persecution Victims in Europe.

Paul Muni, stage and movie actor, addressing a dinner meeting of the special gifts division of the Jewish Welfare Fund at Hotel Jefferson last night, urged united action by the Jews of America in assisting persecuted Jews in Europe.

"We, the Jews of America," Muni said, "must pull together. If we stand united, we will succeed in this great humanitarian effort to assist our less fortunate fellow men. It is one of the greatest causes that has ever presented itself to mankind in all history."

Muni came to St. Louis with Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin, who also addressed the meeting. The Jewish Welfare Fund campaign, seeking $511,937, more than half of which will be used to assist Jews who because of foreign persecution are in need of financial assistance, will open May 1.

OZARK DESPERADO CAPTURED IN EAST BY INDIANA POLICE

Claude Dickerson Waives Extradition — Officers Taking Him Back for Trial as Killer.

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP).—Claude Dickerson, former St. Louis and surviving member of the Perkins gang of Ozark outlaws, was captured at his suburban Queens apartment yesterday by New York and Indiana police.

Although wanted in Missouri for bank robbery and breaking jail, Dickerson, who had worked here as a glazier for six months, will be taken to Indiana for trial in an attempted bank robbery at Bloomington in 1936 in which Wood Carter, a bank employee, was killed. The prisoner, denying responsibility for the Carter killing, who recovered from a wound in the jaw, admitted his first identification of the suspect had not been certain.

Two years later Dickerson had become identified with the Perkins gang. As a result of that association he is wanted for bank robberies at Raymondville, Mill Spring and Grandin, Mo., and for an attempted bank robbery at Mountain View.

Dickerson was released from the Texas County Jail, Houston, Mo., where he was held for the Raymondville bank robbery, on July 4, 1934, by an armed man, with whom he fled after locking the jailer in the jail.

After William Olin Perkins, reputed leader of the gang, and Paul T. Mills, an automobile thief, were freed from the St. Louis County Hospital prison ward by two armed men on Aug. 14, 1934, Perkins, Dickerson and Eugene Goodman wrote authorities that they committed a bank robbery at Grandin, Mo., Feb. 16, 1934, and that Sherman Hodges, sentenced to 10 years in prison for the robbery, and two other men were innocent. The letters failed to obtain a parole for Hodges, but the other two defendants were never convicted. Perkins, Goodman and Mills were of gunshot wounds, and John Biggs, another member of the gang, was killed in an automobile crash.

Chief of Detectives John J. Carroll told reporters today that St. Louis detectives obtained the information, which led to Dickerson's capture. Detectives George Parker, Hilbert Hungeate and Frank Rauch had assisted Indiana police in a search for the fugitive here. Last Thursday they learned where Dickerson was living in New York and telephoned the information to Indiana, Chief Carroll said.

FEWER STREET CAR FARES

First 3 Months of 1939 Show Decline of 1,695,815 Passengers.

Street cars carried 1,695,815 fewer passengers in the first three months of 1939 than in the corresponding period last year according to a report filed with the City Register today by Henry W. Kiehl, trustee for the Public Service Co. The report does not include the number of passengers carried by the buses also operated by the company.

During January, February and March of this year, 22,846,134 passengers were carried for revenue as compared to 24,541,949 for these months in 1938. During the last three months of 1938, 24,509,089 passengers were transported. The report said the number of cars in use daily was 632, excluding Saturday and Sunday, when fewer cars were operated.

As the revised plan of reorganization for the St. Louis Public Service Co., prepared several weeks ago to meet objections of City Counselor Edgar H. Wayman, will not be opposed by the city, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment announced today following a meeting.

The decision was announced by the board's secretary, Deputy Comptroller Charles L. Cunningham, who said Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann and Comptroller Louis Nolte had voted in favor of the plan and that the third member of the board, William L. Mason, president of the Board of Aldermen, while not voting because he is on a committee representing claimants against the street car company, also approved it.

The revised plan, scheduled for a hearing before United States District Judge Charles E. Davis next Thursday, would give two shares of new common stock instead of one, for each three shares of the outstanding preferred, of which the city owns 15,812 shares.

As an alternative, it is provided that holders of preferred may exchange it for $250 cash a share. Under this alternative, the city would receive $39,350. The stock is carried on the books at $24,000. It was acquired by the city in the 1927 reorganization of the old United Railways in settlement of mill tax claims aggregating about $1,600,000. The Public Service Co. has been in receivership and reorganization proceedings since 1933.

The only other new feature of the revised plan is a proposal for organization of a new company to take over the combined street railway and bus businesses.

EVERYONE WHO WANTS A NEW CAR SHOULD READ THIS

YOU ARE ENTITLED to know exactly what finance charge you are to pay and exactly what insurance coverage you are to receive when you buy your new car on any Time Payment Plan. To clear up any confusion Commercial Credit Company openly publishes its financing rate and available insurance coverage on new cars of any make. This company, with more than $65,000,000 invested capital, makes the following pledge to you:

Guaranteed Rate—No Hidden Charges

If we handle your time payment transaction on your new car of any make, through your local dealer, we guarantee that the financing rate you will pay does not exceed $6.00 per year per $100 ($6 cents per month) on your original unpaid balance plus charge for the insurance you receive, payable in 12 to 18 or more equal monthly installments. Some states require a small charge for filing, recording or tax, which is added. This rate is available through acceptable dealers anywhere in the United States. There are no hidden charges for "investigation" or otherwise.

Your Insurance Protection

To protect your investment, you will receive an insurance policy or certificate issued by one of the largest insurance companies, covering loss by fire—actual value; theft—broader form; collision—deductible type; and other accidental physical damage to your new car. We guarantee that you will get exactly the coverage you pay for and not pay any more for such insurance than the regular published rates charged by the same insurance company for the territory in which you live.

Finance Through Your Dealer

Have your local dealer arrange your complete time payment transaction at one time and in one place. Our twenty-seven year experience and our dealings with millions of time payment buyers convince us that this is to your best interest. It is easiest, quickest, safest and most satisfactory for you.

You Deal With Local People

The 192 local offices in the United States which offer Commercial Credit service are operated by experienced local people, who live, pay rent and taxes and spend their money in your community. These offices and many employees have local bank accounts and instead of sending funds out of, they bring additional funds into, your community. ## Court Stops Strecker Deportation

Court of Appeals against the Government. The Eastern Louisiana Federal District Court had denied an application for a writ of habeas corpus.

Ordered Deported in 1934. Strecker was ordered deported in 1934 under a 1918 statute barring from this country aliens who advocate or join an organization which advocates "the overthrow by force or violence of the Government."

The House recently passed much broader legislation which would bar from the United States any alien advocating "the making of any changes in the American form of Government." The Senate has not acted.

Controversy over the Bridges angle of the case reached the stage of introduction in the House of an impeachment resolution against Secretary Perkins and other Labor Department officials. The resolution, by Representative Thomas (Rep.), New Jersey, was tabled by the House.

Two States' Laws Against Music Copyright Owners Suffer Setbacks. Two states, Florida and Washington, suffered temporary defeats in the Supreme Court today in their effort to enforce legislation directed against alleged monopolistic practices of music copyright owners.

The decisions, delivered by Justice Reed, were based on technicalities of procedure and permit a trial on constitutionality of the legislation.

Justice Black dissented in each case.

Justice Frankfurter did not participate.

Validity of the State legislation was challenged by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Montana, Nebraska and Tennessee have similar laws.

Music publishers were declared by the legislation to have combined with authors and composers for the purpose of fixing prices charged for the public performance for profit of the copyright music. This was branded an illegal restraint of trade.

Members of the society contended they had organized in 1914 to protect themselves against the unauthorized use of their product.

In the Florida case, the Court held a three-Judge Federal Court had acted correctly in temporarily enjoining enforcement of the State law. It ruled also that in Washington a three-Judge Federal Court

HARRY BRIDGES THINKS STRECKER RULING WON'T SATISFY HIS ENEMIES

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17 (AP).

HARRY BRIDGES predicted today United States Supreme Court ruling freeing Joseph G. Strecker from custody as a deportable alien "will not satisfy the people who seek my deportation."

The Australian-born West Coast CIO director and longshoremen's leader, who has denied accusations of Communist affiliation, said the "particular persons" pressing for his deportation would receive the opinion as "merely something they must attack with renewed energy."

"If I were deportable because of my actions, affiliations or record, or if any of the charges against me had the slightest degree of truth or fact, I would have been deported long ago," he said.

"Meanwhile, I am taking all possible steps to procure my citizenship papers."

Right to Appeal From Power Board Ruling Is Upheld.

The Court held in a decision by Justice Frankfurter, that an order by the Federal Power Commission, denying an application of public utility companies to consolidate, was subject to review by a United States Circuit Court.

The court affirmed a ruling by the Ninth Circuit Court that the Pacific Power & Light Co. and the Inland Power & Light Co. could appeal from an order refusing permission to merge.

The companies operate in Washington and Oregon. The Circuit Court did not pass on the merits of the merger but only on the right to appeal.

In asking the Supreme Court to review the decision, the Power Commission contended that the courts could not compel approval of the request because that would require the courts to perform the administrative tasks of the commission.

The question presented was described by Government attorneys as "of general importance in relation to the review of many administrative agencies."

No dissent to Frankfurter's opinion was announced.

Chippewa Indians Lose Claim Over 1889 Trust Fund.

The Chippewa Indians of Minnesota failed to recover from the Federal Government money alleged to have been wrongfully diverted from a trust fund established by legislation in 1889. Counsel for the Indians estimated the amount involved was between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Justice Roberts delivered the opinion that affirmed a ruling by the United States Court of Claims dismissing the Indians' petition.

The Government contended money disbursed from the trust fund was spent for the benefit of the Indians and that they as individuals were not entitled to recover.

Under the 1889 legislation, Congress, with the assent of the Indians, sold surplus timber and agricultural land and established a $16,000,000 trust fund.

Utility Ruling Does Not Pass on "Prudent Investment."

The Supreme Court upheld a Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission order directing the Edison Light and Power Co. of York, Pa., to reduce its revenue temporarily by $485,000 a year.

Justice Reed delivered the opinion. The court did not pass on the Roosevelt administration's request for adoption of the "prudent investment" theory of valuing public utilities for rate making purposes.

Justice Frankfurter, in a concurring opinion, in which Justice Black joined, said the majority decision accepts the doctrine of Supreme Court rulings for the last 41 years requiring consideration of reproduction costs in determining the value of utilities.

The Government had asked the court to reconsider the famous decision delivered in 1898 requiring consideration of reproduction cost.

Justice Reed said it was not necessary to reconsider the previous ruling in deciding the question involved in the Edison Power case.

California Motor Caravan Act Declared Constitutional.

The 1937 California Motor Caravan Act, imposing a license fee on vehicles transported under their own power or towed into or through the State for purposes of sale, was held constitutional by the court.

Justice Stone delivered the decision that reversed a ruling by a three-Judge Federal court in Southern California permanently enjoining enforcement of the act. No dissent was announced.

The legislation was passed after a similar 1935 law had been held invalid by the Supreme Court. The 1935 law imposed a $15 fee on each car to meet the expense of administering the legislation and in policing the highways. The fine was held excessive for this purpose. The 1937 law charges $7.50 "as compensation for the privilege of using the public highways of the State" and $7.50 "to reimburse the State for expenses incurred in administering police regulations pertaining to the operation of vehicles moved."

ing operations and corporate structure.

The company contended it was exempt from provisions of the Communications Act because it was engaged in interstate commerce solely through a physical connection with the facilities of the New York Telephone Co.

The commission and a three-Judge Federal Court in Western New York held the company subject to regulation on the ground that the New York Telephone Co. controls, or has the power to control, the Rochester company through stock ownership and contractual arrangements. This ruling was affirmed in a decision by Justice Frankfurter.

The Communications Act exempts companies engaged in interstate business solely through physical connection with the facilities of another company, provided they are not directly or indirectly controlled by the other concerns.

SENATOR BURKE URGES REVISION OF WAGNER ACT

He Outlines to Committee Series of Amendments to Give Employers and Public a Voice.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—Demanding fundamental changes in the Wagner Labor Act, Senator Burke (Dem., Nebraska), charged today that the National Labor Relations Board has been "wholly biased and unfair."

Burke outlined to the Senate Labor Committee a series of proposed amendments to the labor law which he said were designed to effect a lasting peace between employers and employees.

The amendments would revamp the present three-member Labor Board to give representation to employees, employers and the public; would free employees from "interference, restraint or coercion from any source" and would permit employers to request elections to determine which union was to represent their workers.

In addition, his amendments would require that a majority of all eligible employees approve a union before the union could represent them. Under present law, the Labor Board has ruled that only a majority of those voting is necessary.

Burke said there was a "wide-spread conviction" that a board representing workers, employers and the public would go far toward relieving what he termed "an impossible situation."

"Cards Stacked Against Employer." "Needless to say, employers and the public feel that the cards are stacked against them," he asserted. "The employer feels that he is prejudged, that he is to be found guilty of whatever is charged against him if by any stretch of authority such a finding can be made."

Declaring that "the statutory closed shop has no place in a democracy," Burke added:

"It does not follow that because a majority want to belong to a certain organization that is any justification for imposing their view upon those who do not want to belong. A democracy which ignores the rights of minorities is a sham."

Under present board rulings, he said, employers deal with any union at their own peril until an election, requested by a union, has been held.

"If he (the employer) guesses wrong," Burke testified, "he is in trouble. Yet the board has insisted upon imposing this hardship upon every well-intentioned employer for fear that some employer might sometime ask for an election before the favored union organizers had a sufficient time to complete an organization drive."

"It is an attitude of this kind on the part of the board that has made a good many people red."

Example of Other Nations. Burke said he could not see "how even-handed justice can be expected to come from a body of men who are partisan advocates of one side or the other of what comes before it."

"I know there is a fashion current among blind partisans of the present act and its administrative board to make light of the suggestion that anything need be done to make this law fair," he said.

"Let me remind them that there are major Powers in the world today which have contempt for fair laws. Those in authority have imposed their own ideas of labor peace. I do not believe that we should follow their example into that kind of labor peace."

Senator Holman (Rep., Oregon), told the committee he endorsed "the fundamental theory of the act" but contended that "lawlessness" had found a "haven under the Wagner Act as it is now written and now administered."

He attributed directly to the act the plight of employers faced by labor stoppages growing out of jurisdictional questions between the CIO and the AFL instead of questions of wages or working conditions.

DANIEL J. KELLY, EMPLOYE OF MO. PAC. 38 YEARS, DIES
Succumbs to Heart Disease; Organized Boy Scouts in Webster Groves and Kirkwood.

Daniel J. Kelly, employee of the Missouri Pacific Railroad for 38 years and organizer of Boy Scout troops in Webster Groves and Kirkwood, died of heart disease at Missouri Pacific Hospital yesterday, following an illness of six weeks. He was 55 years old and lived at 307 West Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves.

Born in Webster Groves, he was the son of Martin Kelly, also an employee of the Missouri Pacific. He began working for the railroad shortly after graduation from St. Louis University High School and at the time of his death was chief clerk of the reorganization section of the freight claim department. He organized Boy Scout Troop No. 315, sponsored by the Webster Groves Knights of Columbus chapter, in 1924 and had been scoutmaster since 1930. Last year he organized a troop at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Kirkwood.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Clara E. Kelly; a son, Martin John Kelly, and a daughter, Mary Ida Kelly. Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at Holy Redeemer Church, Webster Groves. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

SCHOOL AGE CENSUS TO BE STARTED TODAY

Persons From 4 to 20 Years Old to Be Listed as Guide for Distribution of Funds.

A census of persons in St. Louis between the ages of 4 and 20 will be started today by the Board of Education, under a State law requiring such an enumeration every five years as a basis for distribution of certain State school funds. Under supervision of attendance officers of the board, 180 enumerators will visit homes, obtaining name, address, parent or guardian, age, race, sex and physical handicaps, if any, of each person of school age. The task is expected to take about a month.

Secretary-Treasurer Philip J. Hickey of the board has requested citizens to co-operate by giving information promptly and accurately, pointing out that delays caused by unwillingness to answer questions will make the job slower and more expensive.

In 1934 the school census was taken as part of a general census made by CWA workers.

WRECKAGE OF MISSING FLYER'S PLANE FOUND

Aileron of M. D. Kirkpatrick's Craft Discovered in Alaskan Waters.

CORDOVA, Alaska, April 17 (AP).—An aileron and two other pieces of wreckage identified as parts of the Bellanca airplane flown by M. D. Kirkpatrick, formerly of Wichita, Kan., were found yesterday near Observation Island by Joe Olson, operator of a fishing boat.

Kirkpatrick has been missing since Friday on a flight from McCarthy to Cordova, commenced in a blinding snowstorm with one passenger, Con Miller, McCarthy district mining man.

Evergreen needles and twigs stuck in the torn wreckage indicated, searchers said, that Kirkpatrick's plane had fallen on shore rather than in water around Observation Island. Searchers concentrated along the south shore of the mainland between Humpback Point and Cordova. Humpback Point is between four and five miles from Cordova, but the district, consisting of many inlets, points and islands, is difficult to traverse.

Other boats joined the hunt after the wreckage was discovered, and about 80 men were searching nearby mountains under direction of the forestry service boat Chugach, which acted as a base for radio contacts.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick, who had remained in the radio room of the airport almost constantly since her husband was reported missing, refused to believe the crash theory, insisting Kirkpatrick, caught in a snowstorm through which he could not see, had turned back toward the mountainous interior surrounding McCarthy, possibly following the railroad which connects that town and Cordova.

Kirkpatrick headed Airways Incorporated of Cordova.

BONFIRE SETS OFF BURIED SHELL; BIT SMASHES IN DOOR

Hits House Quarter - Mile Away — Explosion Linked to Kingland (N. J.) Blowup.

NORTH ARLINGTON, N. J., April 17 (AP).—Paul Spanjer started a rubbish fire in his back yard yesterday and the heat set off an artillery shell buried in the ground. A fragment of the shell knocked a hole in the front door of a residence, quarter of a mile away.

E. C. Ripplinger was about to leave his home with his wife. They were 10 feet from the door when it suddenly was smashed in before them. Ripplinger picked up a large piece of the three-inch shell.

Spanjer, who had just returned to his home when the fire went up in a deafening explosion, said the shell probably had been hidden close to the surface of the ground for 20 years. It was thought to have been one of the many picked up in the debris after the Kingsland (N. J.) munitions plant explosion at the time of the World War. Some of the shells did not explode. Other shells have been found in excavations for new homes and sewers.

CIGARETTE PLANT CLOSED IN STRIKE OVER CONTRACT

at Richmond, Va., After Negotiations Fail.

RICHMOND, Va., April 17 (AP).—The Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., manufacturer of Chesterfield cigarettes, closed its plant here today as about 900 employees answered a strike call by the Tobacco Workers' International Union. Forty pickets bearing placards gathered at the plant early this morning.

Negotiations for a new contract, calling for a 5-cent per hour wage increase for all employees and for a preferential shop, collapsed Friday. Union officers said the strike here was the first called by the Tobacco Workers' International Union in 39 years and the first A. F. of L. strike against one of the "big three" among cigarette manufacturers. The union strike committee said simultaneous walkouts were being staged by about 1100 employees of the company's plant at Durham, N. C., and about 215 in San Francisco.

Publisher John George Dies. JACKSON, Mich., April 17 (AP).—John George, 80 years old, retired newspaper editor and publisher, died of a heart attack yesterday in a Cleveland (O.) clinic where he had been a patient one week. He had published the Jackson Daily Citizen, the Jackson Morning Patriot and the Lafayette (Ind.) Evening Call.

CROP MARKETING QUOTA LAW HELD CONSTITUTIONAL

large, were not of sufficient size to call for invocation of quotas. Under quotas, farmers receive cards telling them how much they may market. Those selling in excess of quotas are subject to the penalty taxes.

Successor to Original AAA. This legislation was passed after the original Agricultural Adjustment Act had been invalidated by the Supreme Court 1936, in a six to three decision.

Justice Roberts, who delivered that famous decision, said that the present statute "does not purport to control production."

"It sets no limit," he said, "upon the acreage which may be planted or produced and imposes no penalty for the planting and production of tobacco in excess of the marketing quota."

"It purports to be solely a regulation of interstate commerce, which it reaches and affects at the throat where tobacco enters the stream of commerce—the marketing warehouses."

While tobacco was the only crop directly involved by the decision, Agriculture Department officials said the ruling would apply to the other products governed by the legislation.

Justice Roberts also said that "unrestrained arbitrary power" had not been conferred on Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in determining the allotments.

Not Retroactively Applied. He also disputed the contention, by those challenging the act, that the statute had been applied retroactively.

"The argument," he said, "overlooks the circumstance that the statute operates not on farm production, as the appellants insist, but upon the marketing of their tobacco in interstate commerce."

"The law, enacted in February, 1938, affected the marketing which was to take place about Aug. 1, following, and so was prospective in its operation upon the activity it regulated."

"The act did not prevent any producer from holding over the excess tobacco produced, or processing and storing it for sale in a later year; and the circumstance that the producers in Georgia and Florida had not provided facilities for these purposes is not of legal significance."

Justice Butler, who wrote the dissenting opinion, said: "Merely inspection of the statute and Secretary's regulations unmistakably disclose purpose to raise price by lessening production. Whatever may be its declared policy or appearance, the enactment operates to control quantity raised by each farmer."

"It is wholly fallacious to say that the penalty is 'not imposed upon production. The farmer raises tobacco only for sale. Punishment for selling is the exact equivalent of punishment for raising the tobacco. The act is therefore invalid."

N L R B WINS REVERSAL IN JURISDICTION TEST

Supreme Court Holds Its Sway Includes Local Manufacturer for Interstate Firm.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—The National Labor Relations Board won its claim to jurisdiction over a local company which manufactured clothing under contract from goods owned at all times by another concern.

Justice Stone delivered the decision that reversed a ruling against the board by the United States Circuit Court at Philadelphia. Justice Frankfurter did not participate.

Justice McReynolds, joined by Justice Butler, delivered a dissenting opinion asserting that "we should stop now and consider where we are."

"We are told that a place employing 60 women who stitch skirts is under congressional control. This is so absurd as to appear impossible, but there we are. Under this ruling Congress can control everything."

The bachelor jurist added that "the number of babies born affect interstate commerce."

"It is no longer open to question," Justice Stone said, "that the manufacturer who regularly ships his product in interstate commerce is subject to the authority conferred on the board with respect to unfair labor practices whenever such practices on his part have led or tend to lead to labor disputes which threaten to obstruct his shipments."

"We cannot say, other things being equal, that the tendency differs in kind, quantity or effect merely because the merchandise which the manufacturer ships, instead of being his own, is that of the consignee or his customers in other states. In either case commerce is in danger of being obstructed in the same way and to the same extent."

Directly involved by the litigation was the Somerset Manufacturing Co. of Somerville, N. J., which contended the Labor Relations Act could not be applied to a concern which did no interstate business.

The board had ordered reinstatement of employees found to have been discriminated against, including those whose places had been filled following a strike.

The International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union filed a brief with the Supreme Court saying "tens of thousands" of its members would lose the right of self-organization and collective bargaining "if the Labor Board ruling was set aside."

ASSOCIATE OF GEORGE A. BALL QUITS AS HEAD OF ALLEGHANY

George A. Tomlinson, 73, Says He Wants to Be Freed of Diverse Business Interests.

CLEVELAND, April 17 (AP).—George A. Tomlinson said today he had resigned as president of Alleghany Corporation, a position he has held since Jan. 6, 1938.

The Great Lakes ship operator was associated with George A. Ball, Muncie (Ind.) capitalist, in purchase of Alleghany Corporation control from a Wall street banking group at a foreclosure sale in New York City in September, 1935. He since has disposed of most of his interest in Alleghany, nominally top holding company of the former Van Sweringen rail empire.

Tomlinson, 73 years old, said he TOMORROW typists will finish "writing" the new telephone directory and send it to the printer. Will your name be there?

If you want your name in the new book, there is no time to be lost.

The new directory will be the telephone "Who's Who" of the city for months.

Your friends will look for your name there.

New acquaintances may search its columns for you.

Business acquaintances, customers, prospective employers, will turn to it when they want to get in touch with you.

To be in this book may mean much to you in pleasure, comfort and the general satisfaction of living.

Act now! Call or come to the telephone business office. Say, "I want a telephone."

BURGLAR SEIZED AT TAVERN

Ex-Convict Arrested After He Is Fired On by Proprietor.
Henry Holman, 24-year-old Negro former convict, was arrested at 2 o'clock yesterday morning after he had broken into the tavern of Louis Castiglioni, 1115 North Sarah street.

Castiglioni, who lives above the tavern, said he was awakened by a noise. Obtaining a revolver, he fired three shots when he saw the Negro in the tavern. The shots attracted the attention of a policeman who arrested Holman. Police records show Holman was sentenced to a two-year term for burglary in 1934.

SISTER ACT

I KNOW! IT'S THAT OLD TROUBLE. I'VE SEEN ALL THOSE CATHARTICS YOU TAKE. NOW, FROM HERE ON, YOU'RE GOING TO DO AS I SAY—EAT KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN FOR BREAKFAST EVERY DAY. IT'S A CRISP CRUNCHY CEREAL. YOU'LL LOVE IT

SOMETIME LATER—WHAT A CHANGE!

BREAKFAST—NEXT DAY
SO THIS IS KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. SAY, HOW CAN ANYTHING THAT TASTES SO GOOD HELP MY TROUBLE?

WANT TO JOIN THE "REGULARS"?

Then don't treat constipation the old-fashioned way—by enduring it first and trying to "cure" it afterwards. The modern way is to avoid it if you can. And the common kind that's due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, you can avoid it by regularly eating crisp, crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and see if your troubles don't disappear. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

HULL SAYS WORLD GIVES BACKING TO ROOSEVELT PLEA

Declares Public Opinion 'Strongly Developing' Behind President's Appeal to Dictators.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull declared today that a world public opinion for peace is "strongly developing" behind President Roosevelt's appeal to Hitler and Mussolini.

In a formal statement, Hull said the administration was "much gratified" by the reaction from Europe and the Western Hemisphere to the President's peace proposal.

"There is evidenced a definite feeling," he said, "that a practical and timely contribution has been made to the cause of peace and that a public opinion, the most potent of all forces for peace, is more strongly developing throughout the world."

At his press conference Hull said he had discussed the President's appeal casually this morning with British Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay.

He said he had received no indication from Berlin and Rome as to what the answers from those capitals would be.

Later, Hull lunched at the White House with President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

Asked whether he considered the President's appeal a good one even if it were rejected, Hull said that the appeal stands until somebody offers something better and more tangible and he did not think they would.

Hull said the State Department was closely following the situation in Albania, but was not ready to make a decision which might follow from Italy's absorption of the little nation.

A quick demonstration of Pan-American solidarity behind President Roosevelt's peace proposals heartened administrative officials in the face of indications that Germany and Italy would reject or evade any anti-war pledge.

Just as the Western world supported Roosevelt in his appeal to Adolf Hitler during the Munich crisis last fall, 16 Latin American Republics and Canada expressed commendation during the weekend of the little nation.

On Capitol Hill interest in the European maneuvers was shared by speculation over whether the Roosevelt administration might be contemplating some new steps regarding Japanese expansion in the Orient.

This resulted from the surprise announcement by Secretary Swanson of the navy that the main body of the United States fleet would be moved back to its Pacific base from Hampton Roads, Va., where it has been based following the recent Caribbean maneuvers. The fleet is scheduled to sail this week.

Coupled with this was a statement by Chairman Pittman (Dem.), Nevada, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, that Japan had violated the nine-power pact by its course in China and that he, therefore, believed the United States might properly take economic action against it.

his new plea against European aggression.

Officials here were hopeful that similar statements would be forthcoming from Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras and Paraguay to make the American reaction unanimous.

The American countries already heard from are Canada, Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Salvador, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela.

Called "Generous Gesture." Typical of the comment was the statement of the Argentine President, R. M. Ortiz, that his nation "supports the President in his generous gesture of such high American inspiration."

Said Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada: "Mr. Roosevelt offers a peace conference before a war instead of after it. No country can lightly reject that opportunity of saving civilization and saving itself."

President Vargas of Brazil cabled Roosevelt: "The high nature of your excellent objective and the generosity of your appeal, supported by the prestige of the great American nation which your excellency represents and embodies, place you in the position of a leader of our continent who, distant from the conflicts that menace Europe, may express himself impartially."

Some Other Comment. Mexican Minister for Foreign Affairs, Dr. Eduardo Hay, stated to Ambassador Daniels: "It is a noble message from a great man."

The President of Cuba, Laredo Bru, headed a message to Ambassador Wright declaring Roosevelt's appeal was "a generous effort to maintain peace among friendly nations."

President Benavides of Peru said Peru confidently expects that the message sent to the rulers of Germany and Italy may constitute the first step in the development of a high statesmanship which may save civilization from the catastrophe of war.

Congressional leaders expressed belief that any general House and Senate discussion of Roosevelt's course would be delayed until the official reaction of Germany and Italy was shown.

ANEMIA VICTIM DIES; HAD 52 TRANSFUSIONS

Kept Alive Since March, 1938, by Blood From 15 Volunteer Donors.

Charles B. McCormack, retired building contractor, died of anemia yesterday at his home, 4522 Westminster place, as he was preparing to enter a hospital for his fifty-third blood transfusion in a little more than a year. He was 81 years old.

Since March, 1938, he had been kept alive by transfusions from 15 volunteer donors. Yesterday's transfusion was to have been from his son, Dr. Noble DuBois McCormack, a pediatrician in Alton.

Other donors were an aunt, a cousin, one of his physicians, Dr. William Oldmsted, Washington University students and friends.

At first he received transfusions twice a week but when the strain became too great, the number was reduced to one a week. Each transfusion meant spending a full day in the hospital and a full day recuperating at home, his son, Royden C. McCormack, said.

CLIPPER PLANE HOME FROM 11,000-MILE TRIP

Returns to Baltimore After Visits to European Ports—Kept Close to Schedule.

BALTIMORE, April 17 (AP).—Pan-American Airways executives checked results of the Yankee Clipper's inspection flight today, and indicated regular trans-Atlantic passenger service would be started soon after Federal authorization is received.

Back in the home port after an 11,000-mile flight to Foyens, Ireland, by way of the Azores, Lisbon, Marseille and Southampton, Capt. Harold Gray said facilities for the regular service were adequate.

The clipper arrived yesterday at 12:41 p. m. from Bermuda, where it had stopped briefly on a flight from Horta, the Azores.

It left Baltimore March 26 with 21 men, the largest number ever carried in a heavier-than-aircraft on a trans-Atlantic flight.

Government authorization for the passenger flights is expected soon. During the flight Capt. Gray and First Officer A. E. Laporte alternated in two-hour shifts in directing the journey.

C. H. Schildhauer, operations manager of Pan-American's Atlantic division, reported that on most of the flights "we came within five minutes of our time schedule."

Auto Hits Tree; 5 Killed. BRISTOW, Ok., April 17 (AP).—Five Negro high school students of Tulsa were killed and a sixth was injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding crashed into a tree 11 miles east of here.

Requests of $25,000 to charities and religious institutions are made in the will of Miss Mary Lionberger, filed today in Probate Court. St. Louis Children's Hospital will receive $10,000 and the Church of the Friendly and the Emanuel Episcopal Church of Dublin, N. Y., $5,000 each.

Frank Frey, Miss Lionberger's chauffeur, is to receive $500. A bequest of $2500 was made to Mr. Woodward, gardener at Mr. Lionberger's summer home at DuPont, N. H. Each maid who has been in Miss Lionberger's employ for more than one year will receive $250.

The summer home and farm Dublin was bequeathed to nephew J. Lionberger Davis. Davis does not wish to keep the property, it will be sold and he will receive $25,000 instead. The proceeds from the sale would then go to the estate.

No estimate of the estate's value was available. The residue is to be divided into equal shares of five nephews and four nieces: Lionberger Davis, John Shepley Lionberger and Mrs. Ann Shepley Lionberger, all of St. Louis; and Arthur, Harry and Clara Potter, New York; Mrs. Margaret L. Cutler of Marion, Mass.; Miss Louise L. Amory, Dedham, Mass.; and Miss Mary Ruth Lionberger, North Carolina.

Miss Lionberger died April 10, her home, 80 Westmoreland place, Fewer Visitors at Floral Display. Attendance at Shaw's Garden at the Jewel Box, where displays of spring flowers are on exhibit, was reduced yesterday by the rain. At the Jewel Box 4000 persons visited the exhibits and at Shaw's Garden there were 1500 persons the display.

to Reach London in Time for Dinner.

WINDSOR, England, April 17 (AP).—James Roosevelt, eldest of the American President, enjoyed the pomp and splendor of the changing of the guard at Windsor Castle to- day after having a dinner with King George and Queen Elizabeth last night which cost him an un- expected $320.

Roosevelt went to Brussels Sat- urday for a ball given by the United States Ambassador to Belgium, Joseph E. Davies. There was no regular Sunday transportation serv- ice operating to get him back to Windsor in time to be the guest of the British monarch, so he char- tered a 21-seat airliner of the Bel- gian Sabena Co. to fly him across the channel. It cost $320.

Today Roosevelt watched the changing of the guard with the children of the King and Queen, Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, and with Prime Minister and Mrs. Neville Chamberlain and United States Ambassador and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy. All had been week-end guests at the castle. Later he returned to London.

KATTELMAN FAMILY LOSE PLEA FOR REALTY

Bankruptcy Court Rules Creditors Shall Realize on Sites
Broker Controlled.

The wife and relatives by mar- riage of Harold J. Katteman, bank- rupt broker now in Leavenworth prison, were stopped from claiming that two pieces of city real estate and a 20-acre homestead in St. Louis County belong to them under an order of Referee in Bankruptcy Elmer E. Percy today. Katteman, an installment plan dealer in stocks, is serving a five-year sen- tence for mail fraud and violation of the Security and Exchange Act.

Referee Percy ruled that the real estate be sold and the pro- ceeds, above mortgages, be turned over to Morris Levin, trustee of Katteman's bankrupt estate, for the benefit of creditors. The order directed that the sale be postponed for at least 90 days to permit proper advertising.

Mrs. Katteman and five of her relatives claimed the property, which they said had been entrusted to Katteman as trustee for their benefit. They contended that a 20.6-acre tract on Florissant road, in St. Louis County, was the home- stead of Mrs. Katteman's family. The city real estate in 4237 West Pine boulevard and 1123-25 Chan- ning avenue.

In his decision, Referee Percy held that the trusteeship had not been disclosed by proper records; that Katteman was permitted to mortgage the property and control it as his own; that the broker rep- resented the property as belonging to him and was "placed in a position to mislead his creditors." The result, Percy's order states, was that "creditors sustained large losses."

Under the referee's ruling, which was on motion filed by Levin and by trustees for the real estate mort- gages, Mrs. Katteman is not en- titled to dower rights in the real estate and her mother, Mrs. Jo- hanna H. Logeman, has no home- stead interest in the county tract.

The real estate is subject to the following mortgages: A $12,000 deed to the county tract, held by the General American Life Insurance Co.; $4940 on the West Pine prop- erty, Boatmen's National Bank; $3250 on Channing avenue, White- law T. Terry.

ROOSEVELT WON'T ACT AT ONCE ON COAL DEADLOCK

Receives La Guardia's Request but Wishes to Exhaust All Other Means Before Taking Hand.

U. S. CONCILIATOR CALLS CONFERENCE

New York Mayor Cites Growing Fuel Shortage in Message Asking White House to Intervene.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—White House officials said today President Roosevelt would not intervene in the wage-hour negotiations between the United Mine Workers and the Appalachian bituminous coal operators until other means of mediation had been exhausted.

They added that Mayor LaGuardia's appeal for presidential intervention had been received. A secretary said that "if it comes to the point where the regular machinery of the Department of Labor and other boards break down the dispute might come here, but we want to try those out first."

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP).—The deadlocked conference representing bituminous coal miners and operators were asked today by James F. Dewey, Federal labor conciliator, to meet with him tomorrow to discuss their negotiations for a contract to replace the one which expired last March 31.

Dewey declined to say whether he was prompted by his invitation except that "the coal situation is becoming acute throughout the country." He also declined to comment on suggestions he may lay before the meeting.

Both miner and operator delegates have shown an inclination to settle their own disputes without Federal intervention, which was asked for by Mayor LaGuardia. LaGuardia, who has tried unsuccessfully to end the stalemate, asked President Roosevelt yesterday to use his "good offices" to obtain an agreement and end the threat of a nationwide shortage.

His telegram said that the situation was creating a serious emergency in New York and that soot "every city in the East" would be in a similar position.

Consumer representatives in Pennsylvania and the Eastern industrial areas expressed concern over the dwindling supply of coal. Small lot deliveries were at a premium in Pittsburgh. Lateness of the season left most Pittsburgh homes without coal although utilities and industries reported sufficient stock for several weeks.

University of Pittsburgh survey showed 120,095 homes in the city entirely dependent on coal for heating.

Most dealers reported their supply was exhausted, one predicting that if unreasonable weather continued householders would find "their condition will be serious."

District President P. T. Fagan of the United Mine Workers, charging brokers were "holding out for higher prices," asserted there was adequate coal supplies above ground to meet all consumer needs at least until May 6.

More than 330,000 miners in eight states have been idle since March 31, when the old two-year contract expired. The operators agreed to renew the contract but refused to drop penalty clauses under which the United Mine Workers would be fined in case of illegal strikes and the operators if they ordered lockouts.

LaGuardia sent his appeal after Fagan and power company executives informed him they must stop services here in 10 days unless more coal is obtained. Negotiations for a new contract in the anthracite industry, replacing the agreement which expires April 30, are scheduled to begin tomorrow.

John L. Lewis, CIO president, hinted he may call out more than 100,000 hard coal miners unless bituminous contract is signed soon.

U. S. CONCILIATOR CALLS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—
White House officials said today

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP).—
The department of labor repre-threat of a nation-wide shortage.

His telegram said that the situation was creating a serious emer-

IDENTICAL TWINS' THOUGHTS ALIKE, QUESTIONS SHOW

Give Same Answer Simultaneously About Things Which Both Know.

WACO, Tex., April 17 (AP).—
Identical twins think alike, Dr. Iva
Cox Gardner, head of the Baylor University psychology department, said today, after tabulation of answers given by 65 sets of doubles in tests at the recent Texas college twins convention.

Each of the 80 individuals comprising the 40 sets of identical twins at the convention said they think the same thoughts as their twin, as revealed to them in later discussions. Too, all 80 said they and their twins gave the same answer simultaneously when questioned about something of which both had knowledge.

This was not so in the case of fraternal (non-identical) twins, however. Only 15 of the 25 fraternal sets think the same thoughts and only 12 answer simultaneously.

Jealousy is more frequent among fraternal than identical twins who were present. Of the 80 identical individuals only 16 expressed jealousy of the other twin. Among fraternal twins, it was found that 13 of the 50 individuals were jealous.

Only one set of the entire convention body found no fun in being twins. They were fraternal boys.

U. S. APPEALS JUDGE R. L. WILLIAMS QUILTS

Retirement Reported Hastened by Government—Ex-
Gov. Huxman in Line.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—
The Justice Department said today it had accepted the retirement application of Judge Robert L.
Williams of the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals, effective as of March 31.

Senator Thomas (Dem., Oklahoma, said Judge Williams had told him that the retirement date was suggested by the Justice Department.

Thomas also said Linton Collins, executive of the personnel department of the Attorney-General's office, had told him former Gov.
Walter A. Huxman of Kansas was under consideration as Williams' successor.

Judge Williams was elevated to the Circuit Court bench about two years ago from the Oklahoma Federal District Court. Thomas announced at that time that Judge Williams had agreed to retirement when he reached 70 years of age, in line with views expressed by President Roosevelt in his courtreorganization plan. Judge Williams became 70 early this year.

In a letter to Thomas, which the Senator made public, Judge Williams wrote that he had planned to remain on the bench until the Jackson Barnett estate case was completed about June 30, but that a Justice Department official had visited him in Oklahoma and suggested the retirement be as of March 31.

Judge Williams said the official who visited him was Joseph Frendergast.

In reply to Judge Williams,
Thomas said that in view of Judge Williams' ability he was surprised responsible officials in the Department of Justice should have "so low a regard for the efficiency of the judiciary as to permit politics to interfere to displace an experienced and capable Judge for one who is practically unknown, untried." . . .

that he regretted the department
He said such an action was not had brought about "such a condition."

Browns, Held to One Hit as Redbirds Win Second Contest, 4-2

Dizzy's Younger Brother Hurls Impressively During His Four Innings on Hill — Men of Blades and Haney Are Ready for Opening of Pennant Races Tomorrow.

By J. Roy Stockton

Browns and Cardinals, still co-champions of the city after an evenly divided spring series of two soggy games, today began final preparations for competition with heavier chips on the table. Tomorrow the Cardinals oppose the Pirates at Pittsburgh and the Browns meet the Cleveland Indians at Sportsman's Park, as the two championship races start.

Manager Ray Blades of the Redbirds ordered his men to report for a workout at 10 o'clock this morning and Manager Fred Haney of the Browns asked his men to be in uniform for a drill at 11:30 o'clock, perhaps to see how many of the boys were good at the single sculls, and how many ought to stick to the bat and the eight-oared events. And meantime, box office eyes, and after two rainy spring series days, gazed hopefully at skies which threatened also to dampen the championship opening.

Manager Blades and his men will board a special train tonight, following attendance at the Chamber of Commerce baseball banquet at the Jefferson Hotel, and will be due to arrive in Pittsburgh at noon tomorrow. Blades plans to send Bob Weiland, his left-handed ace, to the pitching hill in the opener with the Buccaners.

The Browns who open the season at their own park tomorrow against the Indians, will depend on the (Twenty-game) Newsom in the inaugural contest. Haney and his men also will be among the guests of honor at the dinner this evening.

Paul Dean Hurls Brilliantly. Brilliant pitching by Paul Dean, only recently consigned to baseball's boneyard by many observers because of his showing in games in the South, and by Morton Cooper, freshman member of the Cardinals staff, evoked the brief spring series at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon. The score was 4 to 2.

The Browns, who on Saturday pounded Lou Warneke, Bob Bowman, Curt Davis and Clyde Shoun for 17 hits, made only one safety in the seven innings during which they battled at Dean and Cooper. That one hit was a double credited to Johnny Marcum, a fly to left which Joe Medwick reached, but dropped near the foul line after a hard run.

Dean, in four innings, yielded that one hit and safety, struck out three men and looked more like a major league pitcher than at any time since 1935 when he had his second 10-victory year. Dizzy's brother was pitching without the caution that marked his work in Florida, and using more like a major league pitcher than at any time since 1935 when he had his second 10-victory year.

Paul never had the grace or rhythm that was Dizzy's, but he did have burning speed and his performance in the first game of the spring series indicated that his repaired right arm had lost little of its power and that he might make a comeback as a dependable member of the Cardinals staff. In other days, Paul had been reminded of Dean's prowess by his happier days.

Paul never had the grace or rhythm that was Dizzy's, but he did have burning speed and his performance in the first game of the spring series indicated that his repaired right arm had lost little of its power and that he might make a comeback as a dependable member of the Cardinals staff. In other days, Paul had been reminded of Dean's prowess by his happier days.

Cooper, a bright prospect for several years and this season a favorite among the recruits, was even more effective than Paul when he could find the plate. He was wild, however, and walked five men in the sixth inning, forcing one run over the plate, while another scored after a sacrifice fly, to account for the two Brownie tallies. When Morton found the plate, however, the American Leaguers couldn't do much with it, as such a tank and dismal day and when Umpire John Quinn finally called a halt, on account of darkness, after five strikeouts, Cooper had five strikeouts to his credit, in three innings.

With the National League pitching so effective, a Cardinal attack of seven hits, six of them bunched in three innings, was sufficient to make it a victory for Blades' team.

In the second inning Johnny Mize scratched a single past Johnny Berardino, Terry Moore walked, Herman Franks singled to right, scoring Mize, and Moore then scored from third while the Browns were trying to execute a double play on Joe Oregano's grounder.

Brown and Guttridge singled in the third, Brown took third after Slaughter's outfield fly, and Mize's sacrifice fly to Almeda. Marcum, the Browns' starting pitcher, retired after the third and Jack Kramer hurled two scoreless innings, after which Bill Cox took over the mound assignment. In the seventh, an inning of interference, the Cards scored their fourth run. Myers, up for Oregano, was awarded first base when Hal Spindel tipped his bat with his glove. Cooper then bunted, but was out when the ball hit him as he ran toward first. Brown beat out a grounder to Cliff and Stuart Martin, for Guttridge, forced Brown second, but on Berardino's low relay to first, trying for a double play, Myers scored.

WET GROUNDS PREVENT FIRST A. L. CONTEST

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—President Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators, today called off the opening game of the American League between the Senators and the world champion New York Yankees. Wet grounds was the reason.

The two teams will meet Friday. The White House has not announced whether the President will throw out the first ball, but it was reported unofficially that other engagements would prevent his attendance.

Each club showed a promising young catcher. Hal Spindel of the Browns turned in his first game, went hitless against Dean and Cooper. Oregano, the Cards' new shortstop, was hitless in both games.

SCHUMACHERS ROUT MEMPHIS ELEVEN, 10 TO 0

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 17.—The Schumachers of St. Louis, employing a powerful scoring attack, defeated the Memphis Gaels, 10 to 0, here yesterday in a soccer match played in a heavy rain.

The St. Louis Municipal champions scored four goals in the first half and added six more in the final period. The Memphis team, champions of the Park Commission League, at no time was a serious contender.

Jack Shine, performing at the outside left position for the Schumachers, proved to be the best defender and booted the ball for three goals to lead in individual scoring. Pawlak and Schuler scored twice each, and Pastor, Sheldon and Klund added tallies.

The Gaels, unaccustomed to heavy going, found it difficult to keep their footing. Using short passes, the Schumachers, however, marched goalward time after time despite the slippery field.

For Memphis, Ben McCarthy and Bob Leslie, backfield stalwarts, carried the major burden of defensive work. Fred Hart was the Gaels' most effective passer.

Bill Fogarty, at the inside left position, aided materially in the Memphis victory. He was more than 10 years ago, when a St. Louis team defeated a Memphis eleven 11 to 0.

The lineups: St. Louis (10). Pos. 1. Shine; 2. Hart; 3. Shine; 4. Shine; 5. Shine; 6. Shine; 7. Shine; 8. Shine; 9. Shine; 10. Shine.

McCormick, Reds, Gets 1st Homer of Season; Billy Myers Is Hurt

CINCINNATI, April 17 (AP).—Billy Myers, shortstop of the Cincinnati Reds, was taken to a hospital with a possible brain concussion in the second inning of the big league season's first ball game today, after the Reds took a 2 to 0 lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the first frame.

"Double No-Hit" Johnny Vander Meer pitched for the Reds and Cy Blanton worked for the Pirates. In the second inning, McCormick, Cincinnati first baseman, hit the first homer of the 1939 major league season. He scored behind Goodman, who had singled.

The game: FIRST INNING—PIRATES—L. Waner hit a little pop fly back of third that Billy Myers muffed, but L. Waner was caught trying for second, Berger to Joost. Bell singled and was caught trying for second, Craft to Myers. Rizzo struck out.

REDS—Werber grounded to Brubaker. Berger went out the same way. Goodman singled. McCormick hit over the left center fence for the season's first home run and scored behind Goodman. Lombardi fled to Suhr. TWO RUNS.

SECOND—PIRATES—Joost tossed out Vaughan. Suhr fled to Joost. Young doubled. Brubaker walked. Mueller struck out. SECOND—REDS—Craft bunted to Brubaker. Joost was thrown out by Vaughan. Myers singled. Brubaker threw towards first and the ball struck Myers squarely on the head as he crossed over the bag. Myers fell to the ground. He was carried off the field in a serious condition. Richardson ran for Myers. Vander Meer tapped to Blanton.

THIRD—PIRATES—Richardson played short for Cincinnati. Blanton singled. L. Waner walked. Bell fled to Goodman. Rizzo walked, filling the bases. Vaughan popped to Richardson. Suhr singled, scoring Blanton and L. Waner. Rizzo stopped at second. Walters relieved Vander Meer on the mound for Cincinnati. Young filed to Craft. TWO RUNS.

FOURTH—PIRATES—Werber beat out a bunt. Berger forced Werber. Brubaker to Young. Goodman hit into a double play, Suhr to Vaughan back to Suhr.

FIFTH—PIRATES—Bell singled over short. Rizzo was called out. Young, Berger forced Werber. Richardson. Bell was stealing. Lombardi to Richardson.

REDS—Joost fled to L. Waner. Richardson fouled to Suhr. Walters doubled. Werber reached first and Suhr reached second. Brubaker's low throw, took second on a wild pitch. Walters scored. Werber reached third and Berger first, when Brubaker threw low to first on Berger's grounder. Goodman bunted to Young. ONE RUN.

SIXTH—PIRATES—Suhr singled. Young singled. Suhr stopping at second. Brubaker struck out. Mueller bunted to Richardson for a double play, Richardson to Joost to McCormick.

REDS—McCormick singled. Lombardi singled. McCormick taking third. Joost beat out a hit toward third; McCormick scoring. Lombardi taking second. Joost grounded to Brubaker. Richardson tapped to Brubaker. ONE RUN.

SEVENTH—PIRATES—Blanton out on strikes. L. Waner bunted to Joost. Bell fled to Goodman. Rizzo walked. Berger forced Werber. Richardson. Bell was stealing. Lombardi to Richardson.

REDS—McCormick singled. Lombardi singled. McCormick taking third. Joost beat out a hit toward third; McCormick scoring. Lombardi taking second. Joost grounded to Brubaker. Richardson tapped to Brubaker. ONE RUN.

EIGHTH—PIRATES—Rizzo received Walters' first base. Vaughan doubled. Rizzo stopping at third. Suhr got an infield hit, filling the bases. Young doubled. Rizzo and Vaughan scoring. Suhr pulling up at third. Davis relieved Walters on the mound for Cincinnati. Brubaker struck out. Brubaker, the runner, holding their bases. Manush batted for Mueller. Suhr scored on Manush's bounce to Joost. P. Waner batted for Blanton.

St. Louis Woman Fifth in Title Bowling Event

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., April 17 (AP).—Grand Rapids, Mich., and Chicago entries divided honors yesterday as the women's international bowling tournament moved into doubles and singles competition. Grand Rapids, backing up its bid for the 1940 tournament, placed first-day leaders in the doubles and all-events classes. Connie Powers led the all-events with 1555. She and her partner, Betty Riss, posted a 1130 in the doubles to take the lead.

Catherine Hanney of Chicago rolled a 567 to take the lead in the singles. Connie Powers was right behind her with 565, then came Augusta Rindal of Grand Rapids with 559; Emma Munzel of Chicago with 557 and Margaret Frank of Chicago with 555.

Emma Breitag and Frida Tanner of Chicago rolled into second place in the doubles with 1104. Third were Florence Ammann and Edith Meier of St. Louis with 1047, then came Bea Hochstadter and Mary Gordon of Chicago with 1028, and Helen Foell and Marion Debing of Chicago with 1021.

Chicago was second in the singles with 1640 in all-events with Catherine Hanney, Chicago, 1572; Emma Freitag, Chicago, 1562; and Florence Ammann, St. Louis, 1554.

LOS ANGELES, April 17 (AP).—Here is a comparison of measurements of Champion Joe Louis and Challenger Jack Roper.

LOS ANGELES, April 17 (AP).—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis remained an overwhelming favorite to beat Jack Roper back into the arena of pugilism today as Los Angeles awaited the bell for their 16-round championship encounter at Wrigley Field tonight.

Barring what would doubtless be the biggest upset of all times in a sport that has registered many a back-firing prediction, the Brown Bomber from Detroit was expected to make his sixth defense of his crown as successfully simple as most of the previous title affairs.

Betting on the outcome, such as there is, found Louis a 10 to one or better choice, with most of the wagering centered on how many rounds Roper will or will not last.

Big Jack, veteran of a thousand and one nights in a prize ring and most of them storming, faced the biggest chance of a spotty career backed by a small but loyal band of followers, who shared with him deepest scorn for the mighty Louis prowess and the list of Louis victims.

Boston Bruins Capture Stanley Cup

Frank Brimsek, goalie and Eddie Shore (No. 2) defense star of the Boston club, turn back a thrust from Syl Apps, of Toronto, as the Bruins won, 3-1, last night to capture the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the national hockey championship. Bob Davidson (No. 4) of Toronto and Jack Portland (No. 8) of Boston are the others shown.

About His Contest With Moore

By W. J. McGoogan

BOSTON, April 17 (AP).—Having upheld the oft-ridiculed boasts of their doting manager, Art Ross, that they were the greatest team he has seen in his 37 years of hockey, the Boston Bruins today made plans to celebrate their successful completion of the longest play-off struggle in the ice game's history.

In returning the prized Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's professional hockey championship, to Boston after a 10 years' lapse, the Bruins lapped six rivals for the National Hockey League title and then won eight out of 12 post-season games against the New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs.

They won four out of seven, the first three and the last one, against the Rangers and last night they gained the battered silver trophy by overwhelming the Leafs, 3-1. For the fourth time in five starts.

Trailing three games to one, the Leafs, hopeless underdogs even with their most rabid supporters, fought valiantly through all of the deciding contests, which provided the Boston public with the highlight of the most exciting season in the Bruins' 15-year history.

Mel (Sudden Death) Hill, who almost eliminated the Rangers single-handed in the first play-off round, opened the Boston scoring in last night's first period and then, tied in the penalty box when Blinco Kampman tied matters with a 56-foot scoring shot.

In the second period, Roy Conacher, whose two goals gave the Bruins a shutout victory, Toronto Thursday, clinched the game while collaborating with Eddie Shore and Bill Cowley and, with 37 seconds left to play, Bill (Flash) Hollett killed the Leafs' last faint hope by caging the third Boston counter while both teams were short-handed.

CONCORDIA SCHEDULED TO PLAY ST. LOUIS U. BASEBALL TEAM TODAY

Weather and ground conditions permitting, the St. Louis U. and Concordia baseball teams will meet this afternoon in their second contest of the season at 3:30 o'clock at Concordia.

Roy Scott of the Bills and Al Schmidtko of Concordia are to be the opposing pitchers.

Two High School Games
Roosevelt and Central will seek to move into a first-place tie with Cleveland for the Public High School Baseball League lead when and if they meet this afternoon at South End Park.

Chicago, April 17 (AP).—Joe Chamaco, of New York, newly crowned world's three cushion billiards champion, or Jay Bozeman of Chicago, will be $1000 richer by next Saturday night.

He'll Have to Hit Me Before He Can Hurt Me, Yarosz Says About His Contest With Moore

By W. J. McGoogan

Teddy Yarosz, Pittsburgh middleweight, who has been beating back to the top of the 160-pound boxing division since he was dethroned by a broken cartilage in his knee and Babe Rinko five years ago, is here for his match with Archie Moore, St. Louis Negro, scheduled for the Auditorium Thursday night.

Yarosz worked out at the Business Men's Gymnasium this afternoon, going two rounds each with Lew Wallace and Frenchy Le Moyné. Teddy showed ringfighters a fine left hand and a good defense. Wallace was hardly able to lay a glove on him and Le Moyné didn't fare much better. At the same time, Yarosz used his left of advantage but failed to knock down either one.

He is rated a master boxer, though not possessed of a killing punch. You believe the boxing idiom when you see how little he is marked after nearly 10 years in the ring during which time he has engaged in 125 fights.

Yarosz is a quiet, personable young man, about 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs right at 160 pounds. About the only mark of the ring is a perpendicular scar over his right eye. His nose, too, is dented enough to bear testimony to left jabs which landed there but his eyebrows and lips are not full of the spiderweb scars so frequently noticed in boxers.

Teddy is Not Impressed.
He didn't seem particularly impressed over reports he had about Moore, Archie's punching prowess and his record.

"He'll have to hit me first to hurt me," Yarosz said quietly, "and, taking nothing away from him, I don't see how a fellow of his limited experience can know enough to reach me."

Teddy's most recent victory was scored at the expense of Ken Overlin, another good middleweight in Houston, Tex.

"Overlin had been fighting there for some time," Teddy remarked, "and the fans of Houston thought he was the greatest boxer in the game. They made me a 2 to 1 favorite, but I won rather easily."

Accompanying Yarosz was his trainer, Ray Arcel, who has acted in that capacity for many champions and near champions. Joe Gould, manager of Tommy Farr and who formerly managed Jim Braddock, is manager of Yarosz.

Speaking of coming title bouts, Arcel said that it was his opinion that Jack Roper would only last a punch or two with Joe Louis to night and he didn't figure Tony Galento to do much better with

Technician Does A Mile in 1:46 In Derby Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 17 (AP).—As if in answer to the Eastern challenge of Johnstown, which won the Paumonok Handicap at Jamaica Saturday, Herbert M. Woolf's Technician yesterday turned in the fastest trial of the Derby training season in the West.

Over a sloppy track, which made the trial more spectacular, Technician ran three-quarters of a mile in 1:15 2-5.

Technician pulled over seven furlongs in 1:29 3-5 and ran the mile in 1:46. He did the quarter in :24, the half in :49 and five-eighths in 1:02.

Mrs. Bessie Franzheim's Xalapa Clown worked three-fourths of a mile in 1:16 3-5, breezing. He ran the first quarter in :24 3-5, the half in :50 2-5, and three-quarters in 1:16 3-5.

Other Derby horses working out at Churchill Downs were John March's Lightspur, Junius Bell's Steel Heels and Brown & Fetter's Tack Point.

Wine Casting Event.
Winning the dry-fly accuracy and taking second in three other classes of competition, Hartmann scored 90 points to capture all-round honors yesterday, in the Carondelet Fly Casting Club's tournament at Carondelet Park.

Two Rugby Shutouts.
Two shutouts were scored in the Missouri Rugby Football Union doubleheader yesterday at Forest Park. The Ramblers beat the Uhlens, 11-0, and the Washington University Medics swamped the Vandels, 19-0.

ST. LOUIS FENCERS TAKE FIFTH PLACE IN MIDWEST MEET

COLUMBUS, O., April 19.—St. Louis fencers finished in fifth place as the Illinois Division team won the Midwest tournament here last night with 50 points.

The Michigan team scored 40 for second; Columbus had 27, Northern Ohio 20 and St. Louis 18.

Alex Solomon of St. Louis gained third place in the saber division won by Bill Wells of Michigan. Ervill Droll, foil champion of St. Louis, reached the semifinals, as did George Curtis in the men's saber division.

St. Louisans defeated in the first round were Robert Witte, Mrs. Mauriel Witte, Ella Kunderman and Doris Agricola.

WEIGHTLIFTERS SET 5 RECORDS IN TITLE MEET

Plenty of muscle and brawn was on display before 900 spectators at eight new titleholders, four from Chicago, were crowned at the tenth annual Junior National A. A. U. weightlifting championships came to a close at the De Soto Hotel ball room, last night.

Ray Garcia was the outstanding Chicago contestant. He won the 132-pound class when lifting a total of 615 pounds in the military press, snatch and clean and jerk lifts, 45 pounds more than any previous contender had done in this class.

In the 122-pound class, Walter Saring of Chicago was the winner with a total lift of 425 pounds. Ray Donner of St. Louis, lifting 380 pounds, was the only other contestant.

Lifting 445 pounds enabled Ralph Barreda of Chicago to win the 118-pound title, with Arnold Saffron of St. Louis furnishing him the only opposition. Saffron lifted 390 pounds.

Louis Abele of Philadelphia, set a new record when he lifted a total of 850 pounds to win the heavyweight title, 30 pounds more than the previous record. Gregory George of St. Louis made the second best showing in the heavy-weight class, lifting a total of 760 pounds. Vic Frimmel of Bayonne, Pa., was third with his 715 pounds.

John Dama of New York proved the best of the 12 entrants in the 148-pound class. He lifted a total of 670 pounds, or 25 pounds better than the record. Arthur Schmudde of Chicago was second with 650 pounds.

Competition was keen in the 165-pound class and a new mark was the result. Edward Tomalonis, of Mahanoy City, Pa., won the title with a total of 780 pounds to win. Frank Dorio of Bayonne, Pa., was tied with Tomalonis at the end of the military press and snatch lifts with 435 pounds to their credit. Dorio had 290 pounds in the final lift, or a total of 725 pounds. Tony Petrolino of Chicago, finished a close third with a 720-pound total.

The other new mark was established by W. A. (Red) Curry of Atlanta, Ga., in the 18-pound class. Curry lifted a total of 780 pounds. Only five pounds behind Curry came Frank Kay of Chicago. Curry shattered the old mark by 95 pounds.

St. Louis' representatives finished second in three events. Seventy-one contestants participated in the meet which was held under the supervision of the Ozark A. U.

The National A. A. U. senior championships take place in Chicago, July 2, 3 and 4.

Riggs Defeats Sabin.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 17 (AP).—Bobby Riggs of Chicago stormed through the best offerings of Wayne Sabin, Portland, Ore., yesterday to defeat Sabin 6-3, 6-4, 6-1 and win the Tennessee Valley singles championship. Riggs teamed with Elwood Cooke, Portland, to defeat Sabin and John Shostrom, Chicago, for the doubles title. The score was 6-4, 5-7, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Farr Better.
Before a crowd of 11,599 and Jimmy Roosevelt, Tommy Farr won an easy 12-round decision over "Red" Burman in London. They say a prophet is not without honor save in his own country but it seems to work the other way with Tommy, who has yet to win a fight in the U. S. A.

It was inevitable, but the best traditions of baseball must be served. A correspondent has referred to the Cardinals as the "Bladesmen."

Since 1926, the Cards have been successively the Hornsbymen, O'Farrellmen, McKeechmen, Southworthmen, McKeechmen, again, Streetmen, Frieschmen, and Bladesmen. Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the Gashouse Gang.

Dear Uncle Dudley.—Why do ball players wear spikes on their shoes?—May Hehm.

It's an old Spanish custom handed down from the days of the Inquisition. When not used in cutting down the opposition the spikes serve as major threat to infielders. On the other hand they often do much damage to the wearer by getting caught in the bag and twisting his ankle if not breaking same. Of course this doesn't answer your question, but it is the best we can do.—U. D.

WHEN the fair commuter travels in pursuit of daily bread, you can usually find her in the smoking car ahead.

Tonight is the night of the Joe Louis-Jack Roper fight if you want to do so dignify it. Two things can happen. It can be either the biggest upset or setup in the history of the ring.

To a man up a tree and perched out on the end of one of the top-most branches, it looks like the latter. However, time will enlighten and it won't be long now.

Then along comes Tony Galento to wake Joe up in the midst of a dream of fried chicken and make him go through his routine again. It's a conspiracy.

BUDGE SEEKING 19TH VICTORY IN PERRY SERIES

By Davison Obar
Donald Budge, red haired Californian will oppose Fred Perry, British star, in the feature of tonight's professional tennis matches at the Washington University Field House, Big Bend road and Forsythe boulevard. The match will be the best two out of three sets and is scheduled to start about 9 p. m.

The meeting tonight will be the twenty-fourth between the two players on the present tour. Budge holds a commanding lead over his British rival with 18 victories to his credit. Perry has only been able to annex five matches.

Budge will be making his second appearance here since January, while Perry will play for the first time this year. The Californian won from Ellsworth Vines, another Californian, on his first visit. Perry was here with Vines last year and visited here several times previously, both as an amateur and as a professional.

As an added attraction, Ike Macy, local promoter, has arranged an exhibition badminton match between two of the world's best professional players. Noel Radford, Canadian star, will meet Bill Markham, top ranking American player. This exhibition will open the program at 8:15 p. m.

In the first of the pro tennis matches, Ben Garchakoff, Californian will meet Walter Senior, former Texan. Following this contest, Budge will oppose Perry. The program will conclude with a doubles match in which Budge and Garchakoff will probably pair to oppose Perry and Senior.

Monroe "Fog" Lewis will serve as referee with Macy and Russell C. Hadden, as umpires.

Budge Beats Perry.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 17.—Don Budge gained his eighteenth victory in 23 matches with Fred Perry on their professional tennis tour here last night, winning by scores of 6-3, 9-11, 9-7.

However, Gabby is a nice feller as we will pick the Cards to finish first and the Cubs second.

Dad's never the "Old Man" to him

Why should he be? What is there about this father that is old? His face may be lined, yes—with the crinkles of good humor. His eyes have seen much, but they're merry—mirrors of a youthful heart. How did he get that way? He didn't! He stayed that way... youthful and unafraid... unskilled in the aimless art of worrying. He remembered that nothing worth while is given away—excepting Time—and Opportunity of which every American has an abundant share. At all costs, he kept the spirit of youth—Confidence, Courage, Vision, Action. It worked for him. It kept him young. It made America.

NORMAN THOMAS SAYS U. S. CAN'T STOP WARMAKERSSocialist Argues for Tightening of Neutrality Law
by Barring Peacetime Munitions Trade.'ECONOMIC LEADS TO MILITARY WARFARE'Bryn Mawr Professor Asserts America Should Actively Side With Law Abiding Nations.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—Norman Thomas, leader of the Socialist Party, told the House Foreign Affairs Committee today that Europe's good sense could not keep it out of war, "nothing that America can or will do will serve either to deter Europe from war or to bring about the victory of righteousness."

Testifying on proposals for revising the neutrality law, Thomas recommended that it be tightened by imposing a peacetime ban on trade in munitions, and adding scrap iron and some other raw materials to the war-time ban on exportation of arms and ammunition. "It should be set down as fundamental in American foreign policy today," Thomas asserted, "that we have no right to plan for economic warfare unless we are in a position to bring about the victory of the contrary is born either of a dangerous optimism or, in some cases, of a deliberate desire to fool the people into entering war by easy stages."

U. S. Not in Danger of Attack.
He said that while America was in danger of attack could be dismissed quickly.

"Any force which Germany could sneak across the Atlantic and land at Montauk (Long Island)," he said, "could be taken in hand by the New York police. Let anyone who thinks Germany probably get let in the outskirts of Brooklyn."

Thomas contended that the issue was not between democracy and dictatorship, adding that since the World War not one of the so-called democracies had served democracy when democracy might have been served without war.

"Even now," Thomas said, "there is an excellent chance that war on a large scale will be avoided in Europe, simply because of the overwhelming reluctance, both of the masses and the classes to go to a war in which, thanks largely to aerial warfare, no one knows how great will be the destruction of life, of property, or profit and even of civilization."

"Emphatically, threats of what America will do will not keep Europe out of war."

Thomas' Neutrality Ideas.
Asked what he would retain and what he would scrap in the present neutrality law, Thomas said he would keep provisions for a munitions control board, bans on Americans using belligerent vessels and on loans to warring nations, and all the mandatory provisions of the present act. He said he would add to the section providing mandatory embargoes on shipments of arms and munitions a clause to include war materials.

Thomas contended that the act would be pro-British, pro-Japanese and pro-French because of their sea power, but said its repeal would favor these nations even more.

He said he was "wholly against" the proposal to give the President the right to determine aggressive nations and apply economic sanctions to them.

"I am amazed," he said, "that in a democracy there should be an advocacy of it. It has a dictatorial tendency. I'm against it in the name of peace and even more against it in the name of the reality of democracy."

V. F. W. Head Gives View.
Eugene I. Van Antwerp, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, urged that American vessels be allowed to trade with belligerent nations at their own risk. He said:

"The enunciation of a touch of policy of actual neutrality, by a suitable amendment to the present Neutrality Act, without any provision to make any distinction between an aggressor and a defending nation, or without any provision to make distinctions between munitions and other materials needed by countries at war, coupled up with the adoption of the other policies which we have previously outlined, would, in my opinion, be the nearest approach to actual neutrality which can be devised."

Argument for Taking Sides.
Dr. Charles G. Fenwick, professor of international law at Bryn Mawr College, told the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee today that in the interest of peace the United States must side actively with those nations which observe the law.

Fenwick endorsed the neutrality proposals of Senator Thomas (Dem.), Utah, which would give the President power to name aggressor nations and place an embargo on shipments to them.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES G. ROSS

Plaudits for Gov. Stark Prove Again That Politics in the Public Interest Is the Best Politics—How Washington Has Received Him on His Gridiron Visit.

WASHINGTON, April 17. THE lesson to be drawn from the acclaim which Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri is receiving is that it still pays politically, even in these cynical times, to strike a blow in the public interest. The instinct of the people is still sound. Bosses of the Tom Pendergast and Hague type have their apologists in high and respectable places, among churchmen, even in the ranks of Oxford graduates—who maintain that bossism is necessary to "efficient" government in the big cities. They tell how the bosses keep the poor; how they cut through red tape and "get things done" for their communities.

This is the sort of stuff that is customarily poured out ad nauseam when the boss system comes under attack. Any effort who goes after an intrinsically little Caesar like Pendergast must not only fight the machine itself, with all its resources, but must overcome the inertia or the positive opposition of a lot of the "best people."

The instinct of a great majority of the people, to repeat, remains sound. The soothing syrup of the defenders of the Hagues and Pendergasts cannot permanently deaden the public conscience. So it is that when a Dewey in New York or a Stark in Missouri breaks through the facade of politically organized corruption and shows it for what it is—a menace to the foundations of the democratic system—the people rise up and give three cheers and propose the dragon-killer for higher honors.

He may or may not be qualified for higher honors, but the plaudits he receives are a heartening sign that the various and sundry "ideologies" have not yet wiped out the old-fashioned ideals of common decency in government.

A week or so ago Lloyd Stark was just another Governor. Now, as the man who is smashing the Pendergast machine of Kansas City, he is having a triumphal progress through Washington. Mr. Roosevelt, who was the first to greet him, has taken him down the Potomac River to a patriotic celebration at Mount Vernon; Congressman Cannon gives a luncheon for him at the Capitol, attended by the Missouri delegation, the Speaker of the House, the majority leader and others of the keymen of Congress; Gen. Malin Craig, the Chief of Staff of the Army, entertains him at dinner; he is brought to his feet at the dinner of the Gridiron Club and enthusiastically applauded. And so on. The phone in his hotel suite rings every five minutes; if it is not somebody wanting an interview or a picture, it is an invitation to another dinner or luncheon.

It ought to be said here, lest somebody get the idea that Gov. Stark came to Washington to risk in the limelight, that he accepted an invitation to the Gridiron dinner months ago. His presence here immediately after the Pendergast indictment is sheer coincidence.

There is intense interest in Stark at the capital. Is he a liberal? Is he a conservative? What does he think of this, that or the other policy of the Roosevelt administration? These are hard questions to answer, for Gov. Stark, while supporting the New Deal in general, has not had to commit himself on specific policies. It is not the intention here to try to answer them. If a personal view may be expressed, it is that Gov. Stark on national issues stands somewhere between Roosevelt and Garner—to the right of Roosevelt, to the left of Garner.

This is speculation; what is known of the Governor is that he has political courage and great tenacity; that he has a strong sense of civic obligation; that his government has added lustre to a respected Missouri name. He is taking in his stride the attentions that Washington is showering upon him. What are the chances of Gov. Stark to win a place on the national Democratic ticket of 1947? It would be a waste to attempt an answer at this time. What this article would emphasize is the point that the question is being seriously asked. Manifestly, the Governor has elements of political "availability," and the greatest of these is the fact that he undertook a job of supreme importance to the people of Missouri—indeed, to the people of the whole nation—and is carrying it through. He might have chosen the easy political way and gone along with the boss as so many others in Missouri politics have done; he chose instead, in the public interest, the hard way.

His political aspirations, if any, he has not revealed; but on his public record he is eminently entitled to aspire.

that you will continue to work for the improvement of social and economic legislation under our framework of Government.

"I deeply regret that a certain type of opposition should deprive the Interstate Commerce Commission of one as able and as wholeheartedly devoted to the public service as you are."

"You and I have often differed on important issues, but I can assure you nothing has occurred to alter my belief in your qualification to serve as a minority member of the Interstate Commerce Commission."

In hearings on the nomination, Amle's economic views were discussed at length, especially as to whether he favored public ownership of railroads. The nominee denied flatly that he was a Communist.

Belgian Cabinet Sworn In, Then Socialists Pull Out

New Crisis Indicated by Refusal to Join New Three-Party Coalition.

BRUSSELS, April 17 (AP).—Belgium apparently headed for another Cabinet crisis today when Socialists decided not to participate in a coalition government, only a few hours after it had been sworn in.

The Socialist party Congress voted overwhelmingly to refuse to participate in the government of Liberals, the Catholic party and Socialists organized by Hubert Pierlot.

Arthur Wauters, Socialist Minister of Labor, resigned and two others of the five Socialist Cabinet members were expected to take the same step.

The new three-party Government had taken the oath of office before King Albert only today, replacing the Socialist-Catholic-Liberal Government of Paul Henri Spaak. The Spaak Cabinet resigned Feb. 27 in a storm raised over appointment of Dr. Adrian Martens, who was accused of pro-German sympathies during the World War, to the Flemish Academy. Dr. Martens subsequently resigned.

Justice Van Deventer 80 Today.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—Justice Willis Van Deventer, who retired from the Supreme Court nearly two years ago, observed his eightieth birthday today. He was described by friends as in excellent health. He will leave his apartment here in a few weeks to spend the summer on his Maryland farm.

U. S. OFFICIAL'S
UNION DISCLOSEDWorkers' Alliance Head Tells House Group Robert Marshall Gave $2500
This Year.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—David Lasser, head of a national union of WPA workers, told a House investigating committee today that his organization, the Workers' Alliance, had received a contribution of $2500 from Robert Marshall, a Government official.

He made this statement shortly after being the investigating committee, in response to questions, that he had made a trip to Russia in 1937 at the alliance's expense.

Marshall, chief of the Agricultural Department's division of recreation and lands, told reporters later he had given the $2500 to the alliance because "I think the employed have the right to organize as well as any other group." He added: "The Workers' Alliance has done a swell job on the whole, and some of the things said against them have been nonsense."

Marshall had contributed $2500 this year and a smaller sum last year, Lasser testified, because he believed in the movement.

Denies He Is Communist.

J. O'Connor Roberts, committee counsel, who questioned Lasser, asserted that Herbert Benjamin, secretary-treasurer of the workers' alliance, had reported to the Third Internationale that the formation of the alliance climaxed a four-year campaign by the Communist party. He read excerpts from the report which he said was made by Benjamin.

"I have no knowledge of that," Lasser replied.

Representative Taber (Rep.), New York, asked Lasser if he were a Communist. The witness insisted his personal political beliefs were not germane to the inquiry, but replied finally that he was not.

Lasser said also that his organization had received $500 from a wealthy unnamed individual of Baltimore, Md., whose contribution was listed as being from "the Christian Social Justice Fund."

Lasser denied that he had written articles for the Daily Worker, Communist newspaper. Shown an article in the Worker bearing his name, he contended it had been published without his authorization.

Accuses Senator of Lying.

Roberts questioned Lasser closely about a statement which the Workers' Alliance issued concerning the action of Congress in cutting $50,000,000 from a WPA fund requested by President Roosevelt. In the statement, the Alliance said the conservative group in Congress had achieved its end by misrepresentation and lies.

Lasser testified that the House Appropriations Subcommittee made misrepresentations and that he believed Senator Adams (Dem.), Colorado, had lied.

Lasser said he had been invited by Soviet trade unions to be a delegate to a celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the Russian revolution.

He told of the trip, in response to questions by Roberts. He denied that he made a report on the activities of his organization to the Soviet Government.

Benjamin, the alliance's secretary-treasurer, told the Appropriations Subcommittee the organization had an enrollment of 260,640. The largest alliance organizations, he said, are in California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Washington.

Union's Monthly Income $4000.

Benjamin testified the national organization operated on a monthly income averaging about $4000. Dues, initiation fees and charter fees account for approximately 50 per cent of this, he said. And income from the sale of other supplies such as literature and the alliance newspaper constitute about 45 per cent. Contributions, funds

W. O. DOUGLAS TAKES SEAT ON SUPREME COURTFormer Chairman of SEC Becomes, at 40, Youngest Member of Country's Highest Tribunal.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—Forty-year-old William O. Douglas took the oath today to support the Constitution and to administer justice impartially and became the youngest member of the Supreme Court.

The former chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, who rose in life from a newsboy and janitor, took his seat on the nation's highest tribunal before a packed courtroom. Clad in the traditional black robe, he walked into the chamber at noon with his colleagues and swore with upraised right hand to give justice to every one.

A few minutes earlier, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, attending the first court session since he became ill early in March, administered the constitutional oath in the privacy of an anteroom. Charles Elmore Copley, clerk of the court, gave the judicial oath.

Fourth Roosevelt Appointment.

He smiled faintly as he entered the courtroom. His hand trembled as he read the oath from a paper he held. Then he shook hands with Justice Reed, to his right, before taking his seat.

Among those present were Mrs. Douglas and one of their two children; Miss Martha Douglas, a sister; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Douglas, brother and sister-in-law; Senator Maloney (Dem.), Connecticut; Mrs. Hugo L. Blair; Mrs. Felix Frankfurter; Mrs. Owen J. Roberts; Attorney General Frank Murphy; Senator Milton (Dem.), Indiana, and Senator Brown (Dem.), Michigan.

Douglas-Roosevelt Letters.

The White House made public an exchange of letters between Douglas and the President of the former's resignation from the SEC. Saying he was "deeply grateful for the new honor which you and the Senate have conferred on me," Douglas in resigning April 14 said:

"I leave the SEC knowing that the constructive program in the field of finance which you have sponsored will continue to move forward under your enlightened leadership and under the sound and practical administration of my distinguished colleagues."

"I am confident that the work of this commission in carrying out the program which you visualized for the protection of the nation's investors will prove to be a lasting contribution to our democratic economy."

On April 15 the President addressed the following to Douglas:

"Dear Bill:

"I have received your official resignation as commissioner of the SEC and it is hereby accepted prior to your elevation to the Supreme Court."

"May I express my gratitude and that of the Government to you for the very constructive service you have given on the SEC and especially because of the fact that you have been so thoroughly cognizant of the human equations which enter into the national task of protecting the nation's investors and, at the same time, by maintaining the efficiency of the nation's business on a high moral plane."

"To you as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court go all of my good wishes for the years to come."

to Report Passing of Ludwig Fulda, Novelist and Poet.

BERLIN, April 17 (AP).—Juedisches Nachrichtenblatt, Jewish publication, announces in its current issue that Ludwig Fulda, internationally known dramatist, novelist and poet, died in Berlin March 31. The regular German press took no note of the death.

In 1906 and 1913 Fulda made lecture tours in the United States as an exponent of Germanism. Friends said that one of the anti-Jewish measures which affected him most was the Nazi law requiring him to register his name as a Jew.

Fulda was born in 1862. In addition to his own writings, he was a translator of Shakespeare's sonnets and of Moliere. Rostand, Spanish classical dramatists, and Ibsen. He was an honorary president of the International Confederation of Societies of Authors and Composers.

TWO-OCEAN NAVY IS NEEDED BY U. S., WALSH DECLARESSenator Also Urges Revision of Neutrality Act to Bar All Trade With Belligerents in War.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—Senator Walsh (Dem.), Massachusetts, chairman of the Naval Committee, told the Senate today "we can no longer adequately defend a two-ocean nation with a one-ocean navy." He called for an expansion of the navy and air corps to "protect this nation against any eventuality."

At the same time he demanded revision of the Neutrality Act to prohibit all trade with belligerents after the outbreak of hostilities.

As a further precaution against involvement in a European war, Walsh proposed that the Government "refrain from taking sides or expressing favor or disfavor in foreign arguments and disputes."

"It is utterly unthinkable," he declared, "that we should at this time, or any other time, or for any reason except our own self-protection, join with any foreign group or bloc of nations in a pledge or understanding designed to check by moral coercion or the threat or implication of physical force the proposed action of any other nation."

Drawing a parallel with conditions which existed prior to America's entry into the World War, Walsh warned that "today in similar fashion propaganda is frantically and brazenly spread in order to embroil us in present European disputes—disputes which are no concern of ours and which appear certain to lead to another devastating war."

Discussing defense needs, Walsh told the Senate, "We cannot afford to rely on the indulgence of the pretended friendship of any nation on earth."

"A system of national defense which has to depend on friendly co-operation by the navies and aircraft of any other nation, no matter how well-disposed that nation may be at present, is faulty and insufficient adequately to serve our needs."

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Charges Clark-Pendergast Alliance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

"PUZZLED" wonders why Bennett Champ Clark is keeping quiet regarding the Pendergast affair. To many of us his silence is no puzzle.

Clark obtained his first nomination for the Senate in spite of Pendergast. But the bug of ambition bit him, and hard. He wanted to be sure of re-nomination so he made a deal with Pendergast. He never denied the public charge that he promised to keep silent regarding the controversy between Gov. Stark and Pendergast on State affairs. For this, Pendergast assured him victory at the polls. His re-election assured, he could now look toward 1940 and the presidential nomination. Of course, his continued silence regarding affairs in Missouri would secure Pendergast's favor in 1940. What better ally for Pendergast than a servile President in the White House. He had put in Governor, why not a President?

Clark's star shown brightly as a Democratic prospect for 1940. He still has his eye on the White House and hopes by his silence now to be able to salvage whatever he can for himself in spite of Pendergast's weakening power. However, he has contaminated himself by his veiled association with Pendergast and has placed himself in an unenviable position. He can neither come out as a friend under obligation nor as an outspoken opponent of this scourge of Missouri public life.

NOT PUZZLED.

Would Give Bergdall's Place to Refugee.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I CANNOT understand the procedure that will be used to admit Grover Bergdall to the United States. He is, I understand, a naturalized German citizen. Does he not come under the usual quota restrictions? Might it not be suggested to the State Department that his place under the quota be used by some persecuted individual whose ultimate American citizenship would be a credit to our ideals? Let Bergdall remain in his adopted country, where his nimble legs and postcard will be less tolerantly dealt with.

Against a Supine Neutrality.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

AT the very most, neutrality is entitled to only an extremely limited, minor place in the life of any individual or nation. The big, telling thing about any man or nation is not the number of things on which that man or nation is neutral, but the number of things concerning which that man or nation has moving, life-giving convictions, with all the courage that goes therewith.

In this present world crisis, surely, we have no great desire to sit through it all with hands folded, in the idle, would-be innocence of neutrality, while yet hoping—indeed, desperately hoping—that England, France, China and the other fighters for human freedom will somehow win. Today, more than at any time in 400 years, we are called upon to rise above lifeless neutrality to the full courage of our convictions. Whether this means war or a showdown, we are called upon to make the most of it as the only way to a larger life for all the world.

Approval From a Reader.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THERE is much that you say on your editorial page to which I cannot agree, but I like the way you say it. To my great disgust, I have reached the point where I feel conscious of the fact that I have missed something out of the day when I have not had the opportunity to read the Post-Dispatch editorials.

In your issue of last Friday, "More Pledge," "A Fighting Man," "The Un-Neutrality Act," "Orator on Our At-mosphere" and "Brain Father of Philo Vance" are striking examples of the qualities that have made your editorial page second to none in the United States.

On a Sunday Afternoon.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

AMID the talk of political bosses, bribery, faithless public servants, war, it is good to know that normal life goes on, as witness a glimpse into our living room on a Sunday afternoon, Easter Sunday, to be exact.

My wife was playing the piano and I was reading the papers, when there came a knock at the door. Little Marilyn, from up the street, whose mother plays bridge with my wife, with two small friends, Anne and Jane. They accepted my wife's invitation to come in.

After straining at conversation for a moment or so, Marilyn asked my wife to play something, and my wife agreed. If the visitors would sing. They selected, of all things on an Easter afternoon, "Silent Night," their voices sounding very sweet.

"That's fine," said my wife, after the second verse. "Did you all go to Sunday school this morning?"

"I did," answered Marilyn.

"I didn't," answered Anne, "and Jane couldn't," pointing to her very small sister. "She's got the chickenpox."

MISSOURI'S MILLIGAN.

Since his reappointment to the Federal district attorneyship of Kansas City, Maurice M. Milligan has been in the glare of the front page. He has done notable work in the prosecution of the notorious election frauds of 1936. The indictments returned by the grand jury, under Mr. Milligan's direction, against the omnipotent Boss Pendergast and his spectacular protegee, R. E. O'Malley, are a chapter of history with shattering consequences. He divides the startled and admiring gaze of the State and the whole country with Gov. Stark.

Notwithstanding the drama and lasting importance of his services, Mr. Milligan has been a vague and distant figure to Missourians as a whole. For many of us, the character sketch in Sunday's Post-Dispatch was the first opportunity we have had to meet the man, face to face, so to speak; to shake his hand, look him in the eye, and engage in a brief, familiar conversation.

The picture is that of a wholesome personality. The biographical facts present him to the older generation as the worthwhile son of a good neighbor. Someone has defined the New Englander as "a man who owns his father's meadow." Maurice Milligan is that type of Missourian. He lives in his home town of Richmond. The brick house, the rose garden, the pipe, the day's work, the recreations—it is all the story of a man whose roots go down deep into the ancestral soil.

It is a fine, bracing story. The reader sees in it the sound, earnest preparation for the challenge of life. The record made in his official test is in strict, logical sequence.

In the discipline of such training are forged the will and capacity to meet duty easily, gravely, as an opportunity, perhaps, but surely, too, as a debt of honor. And the surmise may be indulged that Maurice Milligan has found inspiration and resolution in Kansas City's traditions of duty brilliantly performed. They are old now, but they were young, those Missourians, when a flaming youth came out of Iowa to seek his fortune in Kansas City. He found it, first, in the office of Prosecuting Attorney of Jackson County. What an avenging spirit to evil-doers was that young Jim Reed! To workhouse, jail and prison he sent them, according to the degrees of their offending. With Reed for the State, the thug, Gargotta, of countless continuances and final dismissal, had long since ceased from troubling.

Out of Kansas, shortly after, came young Herbert S. Hadley to Kansas City, to win early recognition, as did Reed, in the prosecutor's role, and whose star, like Reed's, blazed in dazzling ascendancy. Kansas City made Reed Mayor, Missouri sent him to the Federal Senate, and the rest is history. The Republicans thrust the unwanted nomination for Attorney-General on Hadley, thence to the governorship, and the proffer of a chance for the presidency was his in that stormy week at Chicago, so legend tells, and declined from a quixotic sense of loyalty to Theodore Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt would extend the 20-year-old armistice another 10 years.

A LOST CHANCE FOR GLORY AND REVENGE.

Well, well, mates! Strike eight bells and take a double reef in the t'galls! The annual sea serpent season has opened bright and early this year with Skipper Chris Anderson and his crew of the halibut schooner Argo reporting that while they were fishing off Astoria, Ore., a monster with a head like a camel, great staring eyes as big as hot cross buns, and a neck 10 feet long broke water within two fathoms of the Argo, nodded gravely to them and then chewed up a 20-pound halibut.

Captain Anderson remarked that the creature "could have sunk us with a nudge." He added that he put a quick stop—probably with a belaying pin—to the efforts of some of the crew to poke the monster with a boat hook. Now that was a mistake. There have been so many stories of sea monsters, but not since the days of Olaf Magnus has there been a report of a first-rate fight between men in ships and a sea serpent. Surely those hardy halibut fishermen could have vanquished the monster, and what a story they would have had to tell! Hitler and Mussolini would have been pushed to a back page had Skipper Anderson and his men battled the monster—and gotten a candid camera shot or two of the best rounds in the fight.

Elliott Roosevelt insists he never advocated Garner's nomination for President, and you might even think that Cactus Jack is not first choice for Vice-President.

SPIES IN FOREST PARK.

Dressed like mountain climbers, 80-odd men, women, boys and girls met at Jefferson Memorial at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, divided into four groups and went scurrying through the most woody and bushy sections of Forest Park, regardless of wet grass, mud and a threatening sky. From time to time they stopped suddenly, peered with field glasses, opera glasses and even telescopes at something in tree or bush, uttered "ohs" and "ahs" of surprise and admiration, then scanned little books full of colored plates and finally jotted notes on pads of paper. They were, beyond a doubt, spies, but their espionage was most innocent, for they were seeking to learn the secrets of birddom, which some, perhaps, knew as children long ago, and others, reared in the city, had never known.

Members of the St. Louis Bird Club, well qualified as ornithologists, led the amateurs. It is a credit to their ability as well as to the natural resources of the park, that the amateurs included 30 students from Gillespie (Ill.) High School, who had risen at 4 a. m. to come by bus from a rural to a metropolitan area to have experts point out and talk about birds. They, like all others in the groups, were amply rewarded. There was no highbrow discourse with the robin referred to as merula migratoria, nor were there arguments as to whether the towhee's song was liquid, sibyllant or fricative.

They saw the fuzzy little blue-gray gnat-catcher, only four inches long, but ready to fight any bird five times its size, and learned that its architectural ability surpassed even that of the hummingbird. They saw the modest and retiring hermit thrush, a transient in this area, and were told that for quality of melody its song is probably first. They also learned that it does not sing while migrating. They did hear the colorful song of the Carolina wren, the "clack-clack" of the sneaky cowbird, the shrill Hip-ing of the ruby-crowned kinglet, the "chip-chip-chip" of the chipping sparrow, and the disconsolate chirping of the dreary, dun-colored juncos, those harbingers of winter which now are heading north from St. Louis. They also saw pied-bill grebes, vesper sparrows, indigo buntings and enough other species to make a total of 43.

With such a showing as this, it is apparent that the Sunday morning bird walks in Forest Park should attract more St. Louisans. It is not every city that has so much of the country and such a lot of nature right on its doorstep.

CLARIFYING THE EUROPEAN SITUATION.

It would have been too much to expect Italy and Germany to agree outright to President Roosevelt's peace proposal, even though Hitler takes it seriously enough to call a special Reichstag session. The bitter criticisms now coming from the controlled press of those countries indicate strongly what their answers will be. It is most unlikely that Mr. Roosevelt himself expected an affirmative answer. As he explained, he had a clearer conscience after sending the message. It is plain he viewed this peace effort in Europe's hour of tension as a duty, incumbent upon him for the sake of this country and for all mankind.

Even though the dictators' responses will apparently be direct negatives or evasions, much of diplomatic usefulness will nevertheless have been accomplished. The two dictators are put in the spotlight by the President's message. If war breaks out, the world can have no doubt as to where responsibility lies. But even more is accomplished—31 other nations are put in the spotlight, the nations for whose sovereignty the President seeks Italy-Germany guarantees. No stronger incentive for the formation of a solid anti-aggressor front can be conceived than the dictators' refusal to promise to keep hands off.

Whatever the dictators' answer, the issue is clarified. In default of guarantees, 31 nations will know that their safety depends solely on united strength. The deceptive hopes of appeasement, which have delayed formation of the front and cast doubts upon its strength, will have been removed once and for all from the picture.

SPEAKING OF THE PRICELESS.

Jewels of song, legend, royal possession and social distinction are, all told, a glittering pile. There are the gems "the dark, untamable caves of ocean bear"; the Queen's necklace, another strand in Marie Antoinette's dark destiny; the Kohinoor; that ill-fated Hope diamond; "pearls that a Peri might have kept"; beacon of everlasting glory that shines on a girl's finger. But the faithful, shivering few that saw Paul Dean perform yesterday, with the old "fog-ey-through" speed on which the Cardinals of a memorable year swept across the skies—that resurrected arm is a sapphire of purest ray serene.

Joplin reports hallstones as big as baseballs, and if the storm had occurred at the opening of the grid-iron season, they'd be as big as footballs.

WANTED: A BRAKE ON SUBSIDIES.

Legislative history is repeating itself in regard to subsidies for farmers. The farmers are applying to their "tariff in reverse," as the agricultural subsidies have been called, the same technique of congressional logrolling which worked so effectively in years gone by for the tariff lobbyists.

The 1939-40 agricultural appropriation bill passed by the House called for the expenditure of $385,000,000, all but a small fraction of it to go for subsidies. This compares favorably with the appropriation made for the current fiscal year, and is approximately twice as high as that for the fiscal year 1937-38. But despite this generous treatment, Senators from the Southern and Western farm states have formed a coalition calling for the addition of $400,000,000 to the appropriation.

Whether the move succeeds or fails, it illustrates the political axiom that once subsidies are started in any field, they are almost inevitably destined to grow. The pressure from the voters who benefit is likely to prove irresistible. Thus it is that the farm bloc is willing to add $400,000,000 more to next year's deficit, already estimated at $3,326,000,000.

The momentum of subsidies never lessens until the burden grows unbearable on the groups which are not sharing them. What makes the problem particularly difficult is that the burden is not being borne by anyone at the present time, but is being shifted on to future generations.

With the natural brake on spending thus lifted, the politicians can have a lark. But for somebody, some day, it is likely to prove a terrific headache.

Ex-Chief Higgins says he worked hard for five years to put the Kansas City Police Department in first place. He never got it out of the cellar.

AN ATTACK ON STATE AUDITS.

Representative John D. Taylor of Kew-Forest is working with might and main against Gov. Stark's bill to take the Kansas City police out of the Pendergast machine's corrupt control. He still has time, however, for another derelict to good government. As chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, Taylor is trying to cut out of the omnibus appropriations bill the fund to be used by the Governor for employing special auditors to investigate the finances of various State agencies.

The special audits are provided by a law passed in 1933. They keep the Governor informed of the activities and financial status of the governmental units. They result in economies, and disclose irregularities. Instead of "reaching out for more authority and power," as Taylor charges, Gov. Stark is merely following precedent and seeking means of improving administration by asking for the fund.

The last Legislature provided $25,000 for this purpose. Taylor has succeeded in getting the amount hacked down to $5,000, which would be exhausted by the end of this month. That would mean opening the door to slackness and dishonesty in State agencies during the next two years, since there would be no special audits to catch up offenders.

Taylor sees no need to hire auditors, and doesn't think the Governor should get any more money. "Of course," he adds, "that's my own idea, and the Appropriations Committee still has to act on the bill, and the House, too." Thus it becomes the personal responsibility of every member of the committee to see that this latest effort to handicap the Governor in his fight for good government does not succeed.

How to Preserve Our Civil Liberties

The Mirror of Public Opinion

American tradition of individual freedom can remain wholly inviolate only through eternal vigilance of a tolerant, democratic and informed people, Attorney-General Murphy warns; public opinion can do more to guard rights than even Federal Government can.

From an Address by Attorney-General Frank Murphy on the Washington Evening Star's Radio Forum.

DEMOCRACY today is in a fight for its life. Wherever we look, we see determined efforts to tear down the things that the masses of mankind have been struggling to achieve through the ages. The right of self-government, the right of every man to speak his thoughts freely, the opportunity to express his individual nature in his daily life and work, the privilege of believing in his own religion—all these precious things that men have won through blood and anguish are in the balance.

We must not let the scales drop the other way. If we do, we betray civilization. We must fight to keep these treasures just as bravely and vigorously as they have gone before us fought to gain them. Democracy will not save itself. There are many dangers today.

The danger of class consciousness—something for which the vast majority of Americans have little sympathy in normal times—has been increased by unemployment and insecurity. The danger is not a theoretical one. It is not something invented in the mind of the social psychologist. It is an actual condition evidenced by happenings that come almost daily to my attention.

Reports have come to the Department of Justice that persons who have testified before congressional committees have been beaten or discharged. For exercising the elementary right of conveying their views to their government, they were subjected to physical cruelty or loss of jobs.

I believe most of you will remember the recent Harlem County prosecution which brought to light widespread denial of the rights of workmen to organize and bargain collectively. That unfortunate condition is steadily being corrected, and I believe that as time goes on there will be less and less of it.

The casual attitude which takes civil liberties for granted is just as unrealistic as the view that the American people are steadily leaving their love of liberty behind them. I do not wish to appear to you as an alarmist. I have the great confidence that the American people will ride through this storm with liberties unharmed.

I do not wish to give the impression that the Federal Government is powerless to protect civil liberty. For although most of a citizen's rights are created and protected by the Constitution and laws of his State, there are certain rights which he obtains not from his State but because he is a citizen of the United States. The distinction should be kept in mind, however, when the Federal Government fails to act in situations that seem to call for its intervention. It serves to explain why it does not take action in every situation where some liberty has been abused.

The Federal Government today is determined, nevertheless, to protect civil liberties by all means available to it. We propose to protect civil liberties for the business man and the laborer alike, for people of all races and creeds. The distinction between the Federal Government and the State is not to be confused. In this determination we have recently created a separate unit on civil rights in the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice. One of the first duties of this unit has been to consider and determine just where the Federal Government can act, and to define the limits of its jurisdiction. Within those limits it will exercise

Just Being Governor

J. W. Stevenson in the Glasgow Missouriian.

GOV. STARK has all of the boys guessing again as to why he wants the politically controlled Kansas City police placed under State jurisdiction. Many are saying he wants to be Senator and will oppose Harry Truman next year. Others are saying he is even looking farther and may be a strong contender for the Democratic nomination for President in 1940.

The truth of the matter is Stark is just being Governor of Missouri in the best manner that may appeal to him.

I think Stark is probably playing poor politics, even if he does want to be Senator or President. But I'm not surprised, for he has shown by many acts that he does not care to be a politician of the old sort.

Apologists say Kansas City is being ruled in the manner it wants or it would not continue to send the same fellows back year after year. Well, if what I think I know about Kansas City elections is true, the people don't want that kind of government. Votes are stolen wholesale and with the connivance of certain policemen in the city. This keeps the gang in power.

Gov. Stark did not speak out of turn in his dramatic speech before the Assembly. A Federal Judge and a grand jury have proved that there is need for a change in Kansas City, and the matter is one that Stark cannot dodge. He must act if he is to keep faith with the people of the State. He is just being Governor.

As in the past, Gov. Stark is just being Governor, and that is enough explanation to me. Maybe he does want to be Senator. If he does, I am very definitely for him. Maybe he does want to be President. If he does, I'm for him. Maybe he just wants to be Governor of Missouri, with no thought of the future of his political life. If he does, I'm for him!

Democracy and Leadership

WITHOUT leadership, a democracy is in danger of failure. No great enterprise, public or private, can succeed without it. Yet in this country, government often suffers for lack of leaders. We must ask ourselves how this can be, since a democracy would be expected to develop the qualities out of which leaders are made.

Such qualities have been produced in our country, but in the past they have usually been directed toward private affairs. That is perhaps a fair statement of the reason why leadership has been so rare in political life.

Another and strange reason is that there is a feeling among some Americans that there is something undemocratic about leadership. This is a dangerous delusion. Americans hate dictatorship, of course, but it is often a part of the reason why leadership that brings on dictatorship.

In spite of some suspicion of leadership, people do feel the need of it. When things go wrong and danger impends for lack of adequate leadership, they turn in despair to a dictator. We need never come to take a pass if more people of ability who take a broad interest in their community and country will give attention to government.

Not every voter will give attention to government, but he will vote for the candidates and policies he prefers if they are presented to him clearly and in a way to interest him. Leaders can do this for him. The development of more leadership that will assume this responsibility is the best defense against the threat of dictatorship.

This Mons

As the reports come in from every quarter with news of armies mobilizing, of threats and defiance, the tightening tension is becoming more than human nerves can endure.

Unless some way is found to relax the pressure, it is hard to imagine how Europe can go on very much longer without an explosion. For this monstrous war which will decimate a generation, impoverish the whole world and barbarize the civilized peoples, is rapidly being accepted as unavoidable, as fatally inescapable.

It is this mood of tragic resignation that paralyzes the peoples, who in the overwhelming majority everywhere still pray for peace, and their governments, no one of which can contemplate this war without realizing its dreadful consequences.

We dare not let ourselves be overwhelmed by this hopeless and helpless despair. Too much that man holds sacred, too much of the happiness and dignity of this generation and of its descendants, is at stake to justify our accepting as unavoidable so great a catastrophe. As long as there is still no war we cannot and must not admit that there is no alternative to this war.

We see the Rome-Berlin axis with its Japanese associate, confronting the Franco-British coalition, with its Polish, Turkish, and probably Russian, associates. In this alignment, the British and French are staking their hopes of averting war, and their hopes of survival if war comes, on their ability to withstand the first onslaught and in the end to defeat the axis by a war of exhaustion.

Their policy is based on the belief that by demonstrating to Germany and Italy that the war cannot be won by Hitler and Mussolini will be deterred from starting it.

The President's policy is based on the same belief, and, acting on this belief, he has done everything he could to convince Hitler and Mussolini that they must take into account the probability that the United States will sell arms to the coalition and that it will help them to resist.

He is asking the Germans and Italians not to deceive themselves by assuming that the principle of the Nye Neutrality Act could long survive the outbreak of actual war and he is hoping, we may assume, that this practical warning will help to persuade them before it is too late.

There are Senators who say that the President has no authority to put the dictators on notice, and they are declaring to the world that the President's warnings may be disregarded. But though these Senators are men of standing and influence, the Germans and Italians cannot afford to disregard the warnings of the President of the United States.

If these warnings were based only on what the President wants to do, means to do, they might conceivably be discounted in some measure. But these warnings are more than the statement of an administration policy; they are a description of the way national opinion is reacting, and of how it will react, if the axis attacks the western democracies.

The President is not making threats. He is simply telling the truth while it is still time for the Germans and Italians to consider it in their calculations.

of Buried City.

BERKELEY, Cal., April 16 (AP)—More than 1000 records of ancient Egypt were found in the mummies of crocodiles on the site of an ancient Egyptian city.

The papyri were discovered by accident when an expedition headed by Dr. George A. Reisner of the University of California, was digging for mummies in 1899 at the site of an ancient burial city, Tebtunis, in the Sudan valley west of the River Nile.

The workmen uncovered a long row of mummified crocodiles. Of the diggers, disappointed at not uncovering human remains, broke the outer wrapping on one of the crocodiles. The inside wrappings found to be papyrus.

The documents were written in Greek, the language of the period. Several thousand ancient crocodiles then were dug up. About 10 percent of them were found to be wrapped in papyrus.

The documents were turned over to Dr. Arthur S. Hunt and Dr. P. Grenfell of Oxford University, who were members of the Reisner expedition.

They were sent to Oxford, where Grenfell and Hunt spent years transcribing them and writing book about them. The book was completed recently and the papyri were sent to Berkeley in accordance with Dr. Reisner's plans.

This Monstrous War

As the reports come in from every quarter with news of mobilizing, of threats and of advances, the tightening tension is becoming more than human nerves can endure.

Unless some way is found to release the pressure, it is hard to imagine how Europe can go on very much longer without an explosion. For this monstrous war which will estimate a generation, impoverish the whole world and barbarize the civilized peoples, is rapidly being accepted as unavoidable, as fatally inescapable.

It is this mood of tragic resignation that paralyzes the peoples, who in the overwhelming majority everywhere still pray for peace, and their governments, no one of which can contemplate this war without realizing its dreadful consequences.

We dare not let ourselves be overwhelmed by this hopeless and despair. Too much that is held sacred, too much of the happiness and dignity of this generation and of its descendants, is at stake to justify our accepting as unavoidable so great a catastrophe. As long as there is still no war we cannot and must not admit that there is no alternative to this war.

We see the Rome-Berlin axis, with its Japanese associate, confronting the Franco-British coalition, with the Polish, Turkish, and probably Russian, associates. In this alignment, the British and French are staking their hopes of averting war, and their hopes of survival if war comes, on their ability to withstand the first onslaught and in the end to defeat the axis by a war of exhaustion.

Their policy is based on the belief that by demonstrating to Germany and Italy that the war cannot be won by Hitler and Mussolini will be deterred from starting it. The President's policy is based on the same belief, and acting on this belief, he has done everything he could to convince Hitler and Mussolini that they must take into account the probability that the United States will sell arms to the combatants and that it will help them to resist.

He is asking the Germans and Italians not to deceive themselves by assuming that the principle of the Nye Neutrality Act could long survive the outbreak of actual war, and he is hoping, we may assume, that this practical policy will help to persuade them before it is too late.

There are Senators who say that the President has no authority to put the dictators on notice, and they are warning that the dictators' President's warnings may be disregarded. But though these Senators are men of standing and influence, the Germans and Italians cannot afford to disregard the warnings of the President of the United States. These warnings are based on what the President wants to do, and means to do, they might conceivably be discounted in some measure. But these warnings are more than the statement of an administration policy; they are a declaration of the way national opinion is reacting, and of how it almost certainly will react, if the axis attacks the western democracies.

The President is not making threats. He is simply telling the truth while it is still time for the Germans and Italians to consider it in their calculations. If the President failed to tell them the truth, he could be charged with misleading them. For if he let them think that Mr. Nye's neutrality law will determine American behavior in a world war, he would be letting the dictators believe something of vital importance that would almost certainly not be true.

If the dictators make their decisions on the assumption that Mr. Nye and not Mr. Roosevelt will control American policy in the event of war, they will be grossly and dangerously deceived. In so far as they believe that Britain and France cannot obtain war materials from America and that, therefore, the risk of war is worth taking, they will be fooling themselves. These warnings from the President are intended to prevent the dictators from fooling themselves.

That the President's warnings are not mere words, and are not bluff, is evident from the expressions of a personal whim, is evident from the moment one realizes the situation which would exist if the axis attacked the British and French.

There is, to begin with, no question as to what is the overwhelming moral sympathy of the American people. This sympathy would be intensified enormously the moment a country like Switzerland or Holland was invaded, the moment cities were bombed from the air, and ships were sunk in the Atlantic by submarine and airplane.

Try then to imagine the state of affairs in which, with popular sympathy against the aggressors, the administration was compelled by law to assist the Nazi-Fascist submarines and airplanes to cut off vital supplies to the democracies fighting for their existence.

Can any one imagine such a contradiction between public sentiment and governmental action enduring very long? If he cannot imagine it, and I doubt whether any one can imagine it, then it is the part of elementary prudence and of elementary honesty in dealing with the German and Italian dictators to save them now from the peril of self-deception.

Such warnings are not indictments to war. They are necessary measures in order to prevent war. If Mr. Roosevelt were plotting war, if he wanted war in order to have a third term or something of that sort, he would do just the opposite of what he is doing. He would say nothing. He would let the dictators think that America was safely and surely going to cut off supplies from their victims, and, having laid this trap for them, he would let them walk into it blindly. That would be the most likely way to bring on the war that they accuse him of trying to incite.

What he is actually doing is to tell them in advance, before they are committed, how great are the risks, hoping that they will not commit themselves. The President may fail. The dictators may disregard his warning. They may discount the help that America is able to give. They may feel compelled to take the risks anyway.

But at least it will not be said in the years to come that in the face of this great catastrophe, the policy of the United States was to do nothing and to let her rip.

'DIE WALKUERE' OPENS GRAND OPERA TONIGHT

Melchior, Lawrence and Jessner in Principal Roles at Auditorium.

The grand opera season will open tonight with the presentation of Richard Wagner's "Die Walkure" at 8:15 o'clock in the Municipal Auditorium opera house. Lauritz Melchior, Marjorie Lawrence and Irene Jessner of the Metropolitan Opera will be held in the principal roles.

A six-hour dress rehearsal was held last night. Laszio Halasz, musical director, who will conduct the orchestra composed of St. Louis Symphony Orchestra members, and Dr. Ernest Lert, stage director, were in charge of the rehearsal.

Melchior will sing the role of Siegmund; Miss Lawrence, Brunhilde, and Miss Jessner the part of Sieglinde. Fred Destal, Russian bass-baritone, will make his American debut as Wotan, a part he has sung in European and South American opera houses for seven years. Other principal roles will be sung by Hertha Glatz, Viennese soprano, and Desmo Ernster, former bass of the Salzburg Opera Guild.

A group of St. Louis sopranos will play the Valkyries in the "Ride of the Valkyries." They represent a band of girls who carry slain heroes from the battlefield to Valhalla.

"Die Walkure," which will be sung in German, was presented for the first time in Munich in 1870.

Yerdi's "Otello" will be presented in St. Louis for the first time Friday night. Giovanni Martinelli, Miss Jessner, Nicola Massue, Destal and Miss Glatz will be heard in the leading roles. The chorus of 80 voices will make its first appearance.

The opera season will close next Monday with Gounod's "Faust." Ezio Pinza, Charles Kullmann, Lucy Monroe and Robert Weede will sing the principal roles.

M. D. MAIER WINS AMERICAN BRIDGE MEET IN NEW YORK

Lawyer Scores 646 1/2 Match Points; Oswald Jacoby, 35th in Field of 36.

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP).—Merwin D. Maier, New York lawyer, won early today the American Contract Bridge League's Masters' individual tournament at the Park Central Hotel in a field of 36.

Maier scored 646 1/2 match points in the five sessions, beating by 32 1/2 points his nearest competitor, Alvin Landy of Cleveland.

Myron Fuchs of New York was third with 602 1/2; Sam Fry Jr. of New York fourth with 595, and Waldemar von Zedtwitz fifth with 590. Maier is the fourth member of the Four Aces team to win the title. Oswald Jacoby finished twenty-fifth with 545 1/2 points. The best of the five women in the tournament was Mrs. A. M. Sobel, who placed fifteenth with 563.

Married at Church Ceremony

MISS MARTHA NICOLAUS, daughter of Louis J. Nicolaus, 4499 Lindell boulevard, has chosen Saturday June 3 as the date for her marriage to Theodore Middleton Simmons of New Orleans. The wedding, which will be a small one, will take place at Second Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Dr. John W. MacIvor, pastor, officiating. Complete plans will be announced after Miss Nicolaus' return this week from New Orleans, where she is the guest of Mr. Simmons' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher Simmons.

Miss Nicolaus' fiancé visited here late in February at the time of the announcement of the engagement. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Guernsey Simmons of New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. George Herbert Walker of Old Westbury, L. I., departed today for their home after a St. Louis visit with Mrs. Walker's sister, Mrs. Max Kotany, 4384 Westminster place. Mr. and Mrs. Walker arrived about a day ago and Mr. Walker returned to St. Louis yesterday from a business trip to accompany his wife home.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Temple Chandler of Warsaw road, have returned from a several days' visit in New York with Mr. and Mrs. Eichelbert Harkins Low, 215 East Seventy-second street. Mrs. Low, the former Miss Mary Holland, often has visited here.

Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. Chandler were guests of honor at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Dean of Park avenue, in the Iridium Room of the St. Regis Hotel. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Low and Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Parsons.

Mr. William Maffitt, 4315 Westminister place, left Saturday for Hot Springs, Va., to open her summer home, The Patch, for the season. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Charles L. Palms of Groesbe Point, Mich., who was her guest in St. Louis before leaving, and her niece, Miss Ellen Bates.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Finley McElroy, 23 Portland place, have moved home from St. Petersburg, Fla., where they spent the late winter. Mr. and Mrs. McElroy plan to spend much of the summer at their country home near Hannibal, Mo.

Mrs. Robert Patterson Turner Jr. of York, Pa., who is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. A. Vesper, Fredmar Farms, entertained at luncheon today for Miss Ellen Eyster, also of York, who is a guest at the Vesper home. Both young women will be bridesmaids in the wedding of Miss Harriet Daumot Turner, daughter of Mrs. Theodore White, 5226 Washington street, and a son of Mr. Douglas Campbell of York, to take place Saturday.

Mrs. James W. A. Smith and her young son of Del Monte, Cal., will be in St. Louis another month. They are the guests of Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. John H. Douglas, 412 North Union boulevard, who will accompany them to Del Monte and remain for the summer. Mrs. Smith, the former Miss Elizabeth Douglas, has been entertained at several parties recently.

Mrs. William H. Arnold, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller, 5729 Cates avenue, will depart Saturday for her home at Fort Benning, Ga. Mrs. Arnold has been entertained at a series of parties during her two-week visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. English, 3866 Flora place, entertained about 200 guests at a tea yesterday afternoon to announce the engagement of their niece, Miss Mildred Jane Paton, and William L. Waymeyer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Waymeyer, 7435 Gannan avenue. Hours were from 5 to 7 o'clock.

A large white wedding bell was suspended in the reception hall, and from it fell many white ribbon streamers tied at the ends with miniature engagement rings and small paper scrolls. Names of the engaged couple were written on the scrolls.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM HOKIE BIXBY JR., LEAVING the Church of St. Michael and St. George after their marriage Saturday afternoon. The bride was Miss Marian Spink Merrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Walbridge Merrell. Mr. Bixby is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bixby, and a grandson of the late W. K. Bixby.

Assisting at the tea were Miss Sue McFall, Mrs. L. C. Voyce of Chicago, sister of Mrs. English; Miss Nancy Rutledge and Miss Dorothy Batson of New Orleans. Miss Eaton was a classmate of the prospective bride at Gulf Park College, Gulfport, Miss. Mr. Voyce accompanied his wife to St. Louis for the announcement party. They plan to leave today for their home.

Miss Paton and her fiancé have chosen Wednesday, May 3, for their wedding. Other plans are not complete, but the ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. After a wedding trip, the pair will live at 7257 Balcon avenue, University City.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Homer Hall. After attending Gulf Park College, she was graduated from Monticello College, Godfrey, Ill. She makes her home with her uncle and aunt.

Announcement was made late Saturday afternoon at the Church of the Ascension, Miss Margaret Wallace Flower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Willert, and Cullen Coll, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Coll, 2129 Nebraska avenue. The announcement was made to 50 guests invited for tea at the Willert home, 42 Broadway drive, Clayton. Spring flowers decorated the reception rooms, and a large centerpiece of white snapdragons and roses adorned the tea table, at which the following served: Mrs. Robert Noland, Miss Betty Share, Mrs. Jack Straub, Miss Nellie Grant Peters and Miss Mary Corrigan. In the hall, ribbon-covered wires forming the first names of Miss Willert and her fiance, emerged from wedding bells suspended with flowers from the ceiling.

Miss Willert attended Ward Belmont College, Nashville, Tenn., and was graduated from Washington University, where she became a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. Mr. Coll is a graduate of the University of Missouri, and is a member of Delta Tau Delta.

The wedding will take place in the fall.

At a quiet wedding at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Church of the Ascension, Miss Margaret Wallace Flower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Herbert Flower, 5524 Cates avenue, became the bride of Karl Edward Blumenhorst. The Rev. Dr. John S. Bunting officiated in the presence of the families and a few close friends.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore a blue ensemble with touches of white. Her flowers were iris and lilies of the valley. Miss Martha Page, the maid of honor, wore a navy blue ensemble with accents of fuchsia. Duval O'Neal was best man.

There was an informal reception for the families afterward at the Flower home. The pair will live temporarily with the bride's parents. Mrs. Blumenhorst, who attended the Visitation Academy and Texas College for Women, is a former student at the University of Missouri. The bride's maternal grandparents are Mrs. James Wallace of Keytesville, Mo., and the late Judge Wallace. Mrs. Flower is a cousin of Mrs. Richard S. Hawes and a niece of Millard Watts.

Mr. Blumenhorst, son of Mrs. August Henry Blumenhorst, 5905 Julian avenue, is a former student at St. Louis University.

POPE URGES RETURN TO FAITH IN SPAIN

Appeals to Clergy and New Rulers to Lead Nation Back to Catholicism.

VATICAN CITY, April 17 (AP).—Pope Pius XII appealed to the new rulers of Spain and to the Spanish clergy yesterday to lead their war-torn country back to the ideals of the Catholic church.

The Pope, speaking in Spanish, broadcast his plea through a microphone set up in his private library. He told his Bishops to counsel "benevolent kindness" in bringing "those who have been led astray back to the principles of the church."

In extending his "paternal congratulations" for peace and the victory which has been granted by God, the Pontiff praised those who he said fought in the defense of "civilization" against the spread of "atheism."

He expressed special sorrow for the absence from Spain of "many poor children violently torn from their families." He said they were in danger of perversion from the faith.

(During the more than two years of civil strife in Spain, thousands of children were removed to refuge in France, Britain, Soviet Russia and other countries.)

"Nothing," the Pope declared, "would give me more pleasure than to see them returned to the bosom of their families."

He told the Spanish Bishops it was their duty to lead all Spaniards back to the faith and acceptance of the principles of the church as part of the urgent work of reconstruction.

Francisco Franco, head of Spain's new government, drew commendation from the Pontiff as the "illustrious chief of your state" who has given "unequivocal proofs" of Christian sentiments and regard for "supreme religious and social interests."

CONSECRATION OF CATHEDRAL

St. Peter's in Belleville Scene of Six-Hour Ceremony.

St. Peter's Cathedral in Belleville was consecrated yesterday in a six-hour ceremony in which Bishop Althoff and 12 priests participated.

The Cathedral, now almost 50 years old, is free from debt—a prerequisite to the consecration services. A ceremony to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the diocese will be held April 25 and 26.

NEGRO ISSUE IS PLACED BEFORE D. A. R. SESSION

Committee Asks Convention to Lift Bar on Colored Artists in Hall.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—The Marian Anderson controversy broke out anew today as several thousand members of the Daughters of the American Revolution arrived at the capital for their forty-eighth continental congress, which opens tonight.

Charles H. Houston, chairman of a self-styled citizens' committee which protested against the D. A. R.'s recent refusal to make its auditorium here available for a concert by the famous Negro singer, said the committee had asked the D. A. R. to open Constitution Hall to Negro artists in the future.

There were reports the committee might picket the D. A. R. congress, but Houston said there was no plan for pickets to greet delegates at the opening session.

"We are trying to approach this in an amicable fashion," he said. "We sent a letter to the D. A. R. Tuesday. We asked that Constitution Hall be opened to Negro artists and that no reputable organization, including Howard University (for Negroes), be barred from sponsoring a concert there, and asked to be advised what dates would be available for all next season."

Houston said no reply had been received and that the committee would send another letter to the D. A. R. today asking that a delegation be received Wednesday or Thursday to discuss the three points of the first letter.

Mrs. Imogen B. Emery of Cedar Rapids, Ia., lawyer who heads the D. A. R.'s National Defense Committee, reported progress today in her committee's campaign against "Americanism." Mrs. Emery said she had noticed that "publications of several subversive groups have had to suspend," presumably from lack of support.

Referring to President Roosevelt's peace proposal, Mrs. Emery said she believed many women "feel that the democracies should stand together, at least for the time being, in an effort to prevent war and to have peace—a righteous peace."

Organization leaders estimated that 4500 delegates and members would attend the five-day meeting.

For Sparkling Clean Teeth

DO AS YOUR DENTIST DOES—USE POWDER

NOTHING else cleans and polishes teeth more quickly and leaves them more naturally white than POWDER.

That is why your dentist, when cleaning your teeth, as you know, almost always uses powder.

All Cleansing Properties
As it is only the powder part of most dentifrices that cleans, a dentifrice that is all powder just naturally cleans effectively. Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is ALL POWDER—all cleansing properties.

For over seventy years many dentists everywhere have prescribed Dr. Lyon's because normal teeth simply cannot remain dull and dingy looking when it is used.

No Acid, No Grit or Pumice
Dr. Lyon's cleans and polishes the teeth in a harmless and practical way that leaves them sparkling with natural brightness. It leaves your teeth feeling so much cleaner, your mouth so refreshed and your breath so sweet and pure.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is a special dental powder developed for HOME USE by a distinguished practicing dentist. Free from all acids, grit or pumice, it cannot possibly injure or scratch the tooth enamel as years of constant use have shown. Even as a neutralizer in acid mouth conditions, Dr. Lyon's is an effective antacid.

Costs Less to Use
Brush your teeth with Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder regularly—consult your dentist periodically—eat a diet rich in minerals and vitamins, and you will be doing all that you can possibly do to protect your teeth.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is more economical to use. In the same size and price class Dr. Lyon's outlasts tooth pastes two to one. Even a small package will last you for months.

TARK has all of the boys guessing as to why he wants the political Kansas City police placed under his jurisdiction. Many are saying to be Senator and will oppose Harlan next year. Others are saying he is looking farther and may be a strong contender for the Democratic nomination in 1940.

One of the matter is Stark is just governor of Missouri in the best way may appeal to him.

Stark is probably playing poor politics if he does want to be Senator. But I'm not surprised, shown by many acts that he does want to be a politician of the old sort.

He is saying Kansas City is being ruled by a few fellows back year. Well, if what I think I know about City elections is true, the matter is one that kind of government, stolen wholesale and with the aid of certain policemen in the city, the gang in power.

Stark did not speak out of turn in his speech before the Assembly. Judge and a grand jury have said there is a change in the city, and the matter is one that not dodge. He must act if he is with the people of the State, being Governor.

past, Gov. Stark is just being and that is enough explanation. He does want to be Senator. I am very definitely for him. I am for him. Maybe he just wants more of Missouri, with no thought of his political life. If he does, he will be a politician of the old sort.

ocracy and Leadership

Leadership, a democracy is in danger of failure. No great enterprise, private, can succeed without it. Yet every government often suffers for it. We must ask ourselves how since a democracy would be expected the qualities out of which made.

ties have been produced in our in the past they have usually toward private affairs. That part of the reason why leadership is so rare in political life.

and strange reason is that there are some Americans that think undemocratic about leadership is a dangerous delusion. America, of course, but it is sure to develop democratic leadership on dictatorship.

some suspicion of leadership, the need of it. When things d danger impends for lack of leadership, they turn in despair.

We need never come to such people of ability who take rest in their community and give attention to government. oter will give attention to government if the candidates e prefers if they are presented in a way to interest him. do this for him. ## 1000 RECORDS OF ANCIENT EGYPT SENT TO CALIFORNIA U.

Papers Found 40 Years Ago in Mummies of Crocodiles on Site of Buried City.

BERKELEY, Cal., April 16 (AP).—More than 1000 pieces of papyrus recording everyday life in ancient Egypt have come to the University of California.

The papyrus were discovered by accident when an expedition headed by Dr. George A. Reisner of the University of California, was digging for mummies in 1898 and 1900 at the site of an ancient buried city, Tebtunis, in the sunken valley west of the River Nile.

The workmen uncovered a long row of mummified crocodiles. One of the diggers, disappointed at not uncovering human remains, broke the outer wrapping on one of the crocodiles. The inside wrapping was found to be papyrus. Most of the documents were written in Greek, the language of the period. Several thousand ancient crocodiles then were dug up. About 2 per cent of them were found to be wrapped in papyrus.

The documents were turned over to Dr. Arthur S. Hunt and Dr. P. E. Grenfell of Oxford University, who were members of the Reisner expedition. They were sent to Oxford, where Grenfell and Hunt spent years transcribing them and writing a book about them. The book was completed recently and the papyrus were sent to Berkeley in accordance with Dr. Reisner's plans.

MURPHY ADVOCATES WIDE PAROLE REFORM

Says U. S. Grants to States May Be Possible Solution of Problem.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—Attorney-General Frank Murphy suggested today that Federal grants to states might prove a possible solution of the parole problem.

In a speech prepared for President Roosevelt's National Parole Conference, he charged that the administration of parole always had been "a source of scandal" and deserved "a thorough job of housecleaning."

Unemployment and relief problems make it difficult to determine at this time, Murphy said, whether Federal aid to the States for parole administration is warranted.

"But at least," he continued, "it suggests for the future a possible solution to a serious problem."

While Murphy was Governor of Michigan he supervised the reorganization of the State's correctional system.

"Ask the man in the street to tell you what he thinks of parole," he said, "and the chances are he will tell you it's a way of 'beating the rap" or just another kind of sentimental "mollycoddling."

But "few men die in prison," the Attorney-General added. "Prison doors swing out as well as in, and with almost equal frequency."

True rehabilitation can be achieved, Murphy concluded, only with a "modern parole system under unified, central control, free from venal politics, administered by a trained, competent staff, and equipped with every technique and device that modern science can provide."

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York agreed with Murphy that parole enforcement should be uniform.

"A prisoner improperly paroled in any part of the country weakens the parole system everywhere," he said.

President Roosevelt will speak to the delegates at 5 p. m. St. Louis time. His talk will be broadcast nationally by NBC, CBS and Mutual chain.

The two-day meeting, attended by jurists, Governors, police and prison officials, was called at the President's suggestion in order to correct "widespread misconceptions of the true nature and purpose of parole."

Old Trinity Church Celebration.

The fourth of a series of monthly services to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of Old Trinity Lutheran Church, Eighth and Seward streets, will be held next Sunday night. The Rev. Fred W. Weidmann of Bloomfield, N. J., former pastor of the church, will preach the sermon.

ZINC INSTITUTE OPENS ST. LOUIS CONVENTION

Discussions of Foreign Markets, Legislative Proposals and Trade Treaties Begin.

The twenty-first annual meeting of the American Zinc Institute began today at Hotel Statler, with discussions on the domestic and foreign zinc markets, legislative proposals and trade treaties. The meeting will continue through tomorrow.

Speakers on today's program included O. W. Roskill of London, consulting engineer, who was to deliver a paper on the European metal markets, and Julian D. Conover, secretary of the American Mining Congress, who was to discuss current legislation and treaties. Papers on foreign trade were to be delivered by George C. Helms, mining engineer, and George H. Cunningham, consulting engineer.

Four boys, members of 4-H club in Major County, Ok., who won the team prize in a promotional contest sponsored by the institute, were introduced at the convention this morning. The youths are exhibiting a series of model steel farm buildings which won the prize for them.

A new farm plan building service was described by K. J. T. Ekblaw of Chicago. He recommended that the institute establish a free plan service for the use of galvanized sheets in farm buildings. He said steel companies would co-operate in the plan.

Several papers on markets for zinc-coated products and on technical developments in the use of zinc will be given tomorrow. The annual dinner will be held tonight, with Howard I. Young, institute president and head of the American Zinc, Lead & Smelting Co., presiding.

TWO-OCEAN NAVY IS NEEDED BY U. S., WALSH DECLARES

Canal, for instance, might throw our present one-ocean navy system of national defense entirely out of joint.

Walsh told the Senate that "any official or group of officials" which ought to "pledge this nation to a policy of favoring or supporting any bloc or group of nations on the threshold of war is flagrantly disregarding the overwhelming and emphatic will of the American people."

raised for special campaigns and "miscellaneous accounts" bring in the remaining 5 per cent, Benjamin said.

Lasser denied that the Workers' Alliance was subversive. Called as the first witness, he read a statement, saying:

"We have been called 'subversive.' Of course, no evidence has been brought forward to prove these charges, and we deny them emphatically and in toto."

Lasser appeared immediately after the subcommittee conducting the inquiry had voted to throw its hearings open to reporters.

Lasser, saying most WPA supervisors were "honest, efficient, fair," testified nevertheless that workers all over the country had complained:

1. That supervisors were selected on a basis of political pull, and for the political influence they can wield.

2. That supervisors had no economic need of their jobs.

3. That supervisors were incompetent and inefficient.

4. That supervisors were engaged in activities that resemble or are corruption.

5. That when funds are cut and workers must be discharged, "the poor project worker who is in need is dropped; the well-fixed supervisor is retained in his comfortable job."

6. That it is almost impossible for an ordinary project worker to get a supervisory job unless he has "the pull" or political connections.

7. That where supervisors are engaged in a political game they bitterly resent organization of the workers.

He urged that the supervisory force be placed under civil service. The inquiry is being directed first at determining what influence the Workers' Alliance wields in the Federal Relief Administration.

Some members of the committee said they expected to prove that the alliance "dominates" the administration of relief in big cities.

On Wednesday or Thursday the Senate will take up the question of revising the relief system, as proposed in a bill by Senator Byrnes of South Carolina.

Byrnes said material savings could be made in the total appropriation of relief funds by combining, as his bill does, the WPA, PWA, CCC, National Youth Administration, Bureau of Public Roads and the Public Buildings Division of the Treasury under one government agency.

Proponents of Byrnes' plan were visibly heartened by reports that large city representatives who had been expected to oppose it on the ground it gave an advantage to more sparsely settled sections, might line up in support of it.

By Hedda Hopper

Declarer Uses Strip-Play to Make Contract

Also Employs End-Play by Forcing East Into Lead.

By Ely Culbertson

Dear Mrs. Carr: I AM a young girl and I read your column every day. Here is my problem. I used to go steady with a boy but I quit him recently. There is another boy that I am positive I love. He is very nice and I think he likes me too, but he is going with a good friend of mine and I hate to take him away from her. What shall I do? JAM.

Is it necessary to take the boy out of the other girl's hands and place him under lock and key? The simplest thing to do would be to go out with the boy when he asks you, act no differently than you would with any other date, and let the boy do the deciding. A boy usually doesn't let his fate be decided without having some say in the matter. Meanwhile spread your attentions around a little instead of confining them on one boy. It will make you more valuable in his eyes.

Dear Mrs. Carr: WILL WHITE and brown spectator shoes be worn all summer? Could I wear them with a formal? When is the proper time to wear white shoes? I made a light blue accordion pleated skirt. Do you think I should sew the pleats down? "PATTY."

White and brown spectator shoes are worn all summer but with spectator sports clothes, never with formal or even very dressy frocks. With a formal you would wear shoes of a more fragile appearance, usually sandals of silver, gold, white, or pastel fabric. White shoes are worn by most people from the middle of May on, depending on the weather. High school and college students usually wear white and brown spectators and oxfords much earlier.

The pleats in the skirt would probably stay down better if they were sewed about five inches down, and the skirt would also have a trimmer appearance.

Dear Mrs. Carr: THE "FRESHMAN" girls are giving a backward dance and of course, they are to invite the boys and pay for the tickets. What I want to know is, are the girls supposed to treat the boys after the dance and see them home? I don't think this is expected but some of the girls say it is. Please answer soon as the dance is in two weeks. M. C. C. F.

At a true "Backward" or "Leap Year" dance, the girls would call for the boys, bring them corsages, usually of carrots, cabbages, or something similarly whimsical, take them to the dance, see that their wraps are checked and in some cases carry their combs, cigarettes and other paraphernalia, just as the boys are forced to carry makeup for the girls. After the dance they would help the boys with their wraps, take them out for refreshments—going in a group would be less embarrassing, perhaps—and see them home. The lateness of the hour might prevent the taking of the boys home, unless the girls went in a group and their parents thought it all right for them to be out alone at a late hour.

Dear Mrs. Carr: WOULD YOU PLEASE answer a question for my girl friend and me. When a girl asks a boy to go to a dance or something like that, is it proper for the girl to pay her own way or is the boy supposed to pay her way? BACKWARDS.

If a girl asks a boy to go to a dance or theater she buys the tickets in advance and gives them to him before they leave. In other words it is her party and she pays for both, although he assumes all other incidental expenses, of transportation, etc. If, however, she asks a boy she knows very well, a brother, cousin, or "old faithful" to take her to a dance, it is assumed that he is to pay expenses.

Dear Mrs. Carr: WOULD YOU PLEASE answer these questions about Benny Goodman? Did he play over the N. B. C. network with his orchestra for a barking company on a Saturday night program? How long ago was it? I believe it came from New York over KSD. The program was called "Let's Dance." How old is his orchestra? R. T.

Benny Goodman played on a program sponsored by the National Bluebird Co. early in 1935. This came over KSD on Saturday nights. His orchestra is at least five years old.

ANITA STEWART, A GREAT STAR OF THE SILENT MOVIES.

W. C. FIELDS AND CAROL DEMPSTER IN A 1925 FILM, "SALLY OF THE SAWDUST."

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 17. HAVING nothing to do between scenes on the Jackie Cooper set, I got to thinking about the present-day way of making pictures, and the methods of the silent movies 18 or 19 years ago.

Today a girl has practically everything done for her, almost a standing army of assistants at her disposal. Her clothes are furnished, she's jeweled, coiffed—even the ragged edges of her eyelashes are smoothed and shaved. Your makeup is applied—you can just put your head back and go to sleep for an extra half hour while your face is carefully lifted into place. At least mine is when Dottie Pondell applies the grease paint—she's an unsung genius.

But believe me, it wasn't always thus. I remember a picture I played in about 18 years ago, called "Virtuous Wives." Anita Stewart was the star. It was Louis B. Mayer's very first picture. The director was George Loane Tucker, who made his name famous the following year by directing "The Miracle Man."

Miss Stewart had one of those star-studded contracts which called for her approval on story and cast, and she didn't have to work after 5 o'clock. In fact, she had the works. She was getting the fabulous sum, in those days, of $3500 a week. Producers are smarter now, they don't give actors so much authority.

By Tucker. "But," he said, "you'll have to be approved by the star. And will you go to Brooklyn to see her? My manager will take you over at your convenience."

Sure, heck, I would have gone to Philadelphia in those days for a good part. Don't get me wrong—I still would. So the meeting place and time was set for the following morning. I arrived, sure enough the manager was waiting.

"Okay, I'm ready," I said. He looked me over and burst out laughing. "Well, of all the beautiful girls I've ever seen," he said, "this takes the cake."

Mind you, I was supposed to play one of the smartest women in New York.

We were there five days, without hairdresser, without make-up men. And nine times out of 10, we weren't permitted to dress in the real house, but were expected to change those clothes in stable or garage. There's a certain location in Pasadena, which asks you to do the same thing today! Needless to say, I always kicked about that. But they just wouldn't bring a hairdresser down from New York.

So, at my own expense, not wishing to ruin the effect of the $3500 dress, I spent $35 more for a hairdresser. Then, every lady member of the company used her, too, including the star.

Being a silent, when the star went temperamental, the director turned her scenes over to me. And not until the picture was finished did Mayer introduce himself to me and thank me for keeping peace. I knew then he had the makings of a great man.

Commuting from Long Island, catching a 7:20 train to town, cracking the ice in the wash bowl at the old Manhattan Opera House over on Ninth avenue and Forty-fourth street. That's where a great many of the old pictures were made. In fact, Bill Powell got his start over there in "Sherlock Holmes" with Jack Barrymore. We had fun on that one, too.

Do you remember little Carol Dempster, D. W. Griffith's star? Well, she had a pretty snappy profile, and so did Jack Barrymore. In those days he was particular about having only one side of his face photographed. Now he'd just as soon have them take the back of his neck. But the first day of shooting, Carol got on to Jack's best side. And then she decided that was her best profile, too.

Well, you couldn't shoot the same side of both in the same scene facing each other. That's when Jack really distinguished himself, scattering new Shakespearean oaths. Oh, if we'd only had talking pictures then, and without censorship, how you could have been entertained!

Then the old barn—Famous Players' Fifty-sixth street studio—where Elsie Ferguson reigned supreme. When you entered the place you

DOUBLE BACKWARD CHASSE

From His Book, "How to Become a Good Dancer."

CHAPTER NINE

THE Double Backward Chasse is, of course, just the opposite of the Double Forward Chasse. It is the part usually taken by the girl and she should study it with especial care. The man, however, should learn it, too, using the girl's footprints.

Compare each worded instruction with the corresponding footprint number of the diagram. Make your own steps follow this pattern on the floor. Start with the right foot.

1—Step with your right foot diagonally backward.

7—Now draw your right foot back to the left with no weight on it. Repeat this exercise and practice.

For an hour, singing aloud as you go. Tomorrow: How to Hold Your Partner.

ONCE again Europe is rolling the loaded dice of destiny. . . . Once again her bewildered diplomats are pointing down the one-way street to war—as the only Avenue to Peace. . . . And, once again America is asked to play the role of International sucker. . . . The time has come for us to pause and consider. If we must have another Unknown Soldier—let us not ask him to die for an unknown reason. . . . And just what will be accomplished by dying in the mud? He will not increase America's resources; the last war nearly ruined our fertile lands. . . . He will not increase America's wealth; the last war we loaned our gold and were goldbricked in return. . . . He will not increase our liberties for no man may protest slaughter after it starts. . . . The truth is that external disaster never solved internal trouble. . . . We must develop our youth—not sacrifice it. . . . America must learn that her sons abroad will bring monuments to her glory—but her sons at home are a monument to her common-sense. . . . COOK-COOS By Ted Cook

WHAT, NO GLAMOUR? I'll never stand out in a crowd. My head's unbloody still but bowed. I'll never stand out in a crowd. Hear me disconsolately pipe: I do not dramatize my type.

I go, a drab and bitter miss. Ignored exasperatingly. Amongst these walking works of art. My pallid charms a joke. It takes such stern expedients. Such character, such where-withal.

To thus make a career of what One fancies is one's type. Regrettably, ingredients In which I have no share, withal: So glamour is a tour de force For maids of sterner stripe.

Yet, had I but the Spartan will. The time, the dough . . . but still . . . But still. A small bleak voice reveals my plight; I could perform each magic rite, Use every anxious artifice— And still, God help me! look like this. . . . AMIDOL.

LONG ACQUITTED OF CORRUPTION AT KANSAS CITY

County Freed of Charge in Case of Claims Allow ance.

3 CITY EMPLOYEES ON TRIAL JUR

No Defense Testimony—
State Rests After Witne Says He Gave No Warn ing to Long.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 16 (AP).—Presiding Judge David Long of the Jackson County (Kansas City) Court was acquitted today on charges of corruptly allowing claims against county funds to be paid for a building owned by his own sons.

The jury deliberated 27 minutes in disposing of the first trial arising out of 166 indictments returned recently by a crime-investigating county grand jury.

The defense offered no testimony. Judge Long's trial was the first major case resulting from an indictment returned by the county grand jury charged last winter by Circuit Judge Allen C. Southern to investigate the "breakdown of law enforcement in Kansas City."

On the Long jury selected after Judge Albert C. Ridge oversaw yesterday an effort by Attorney General Roy McKittick to quash the entire jury panel, were three city employees, the nephew of a district fire chief and one former city employee.

McKittick and his assistants appeared in the case on orders of Judge Southern because they were acting as legal aids to the grand jury when the Long indictment was returned. County Prosecutor W. W. Graves was indicted by the same grand jury on a charge of neglect of duty. He still is in office.

Hostetter Awaiting Trial.
Judge Long was indicted on four counts and tried on but one of them. Indicted with him was W. Hostetter, former member of the County Court, an administrative body. Hostetter, who is awaiting trial, is now supervisor of county institutions.

Summing up the State's case, William J. Burke, assistant Attorney-General, told the jury "this is the first time I ever have had to rely on unfriendly witnesses."

Arguments of attorneys followed the submission of a defense demurrer. The evidence was insufficient, the demurrer was promptly overruled by Judge Ridge.

McKittick rested the State's case unexpectedly last night after Bat McCardle, former Judge of the County Court, testified he had no recollection of the trial, in which Long's indictment later was based were illegal.

Opening Statement.
In his opening statement Burke had said the State would show McCardle "warned Judge Long he was acting illegally."

The trial opened with testimony of a Deputy Recorder of Deeds that property for which the County Court allowed repair and return of claims was owned by Long Brothers, Inc. The State introduced the articles of incorporation of the firm showing 99 of its 100 shares of stock were owned by two sons of Judge Long.

Long records disclosed the Long brothers repaid to the county $10,280.45 paid them for redecoration of a building, occupied by the Justice of the Peace office and the Jeffersonian Democratic Club.

On the panel from which the Long jury was chosen and from which a jury to try Hostetter will be selected are Ollie C. Hostetter, brother of the former Judge and county buyer of meats; William L. Hostetter, son of Ollie Hostetter; and C. C. Hamilton, Mayor of Buckner and a nephew of Mrs. Hostetter.

Also on the venire are 99 county and city employees. Another member is H. F. McElroy Jr., son of H. F. McElroy, who resigned last week as City Manager.

REJECTED 'PENNY' IS GOLD PIECE

Sunday School Teacher Turned Down as Worthless.
FLORENCE, S. C., April 16 (AP).—Fifteen-year-old Mary Jo Cockfield's mother gave her three pennies to put in the Sunday school collection. The teacher turned one of them back, telling her it was no good. After hard polishing, the mother, Mrs. T. V. Cockfield, discovered the penny was a $2.50 gold piece.
